Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1868

1868 CHAPTER 123 31 and 32 Vict

41 Extent of Act.

This Act shall not extend to England or Ireland; and no part of this Act, except the thirteenth, eighteenth, [[F1]nineteenth], twentieth, and thirty-third sections thereof . . . [F2], shall apply to the River Tweed, as defined by the [M1]Tweed Fisheries Act 1859; and the penalties imposed by this Act, so far as applicable to the River Tweed and its fisheries, shall be recoverable and applicable in the same manner as penalties imposed by the [M2]Tweed Fisheries Act 1857; and the sections of this Act hereby applied to the River Tweed shall be read and taken as if they formed part of such last-mentioned Act, and of Tweed Fisheries Amendment Act 1859; and the words "district board" in the said sections shall signify the board of commissioners of the River Tweed.

Textual Amendments

F1 Words inserted by Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection) (Scotland) Act 1951 (c. 26), Sch. 1

F2 Words repealed by Salmon Act 1986 (c. 62, SIF 52:2), s. 41, Sch. 4 para. 5

Marginal Citations

M1 1859 c. lxx.

M2 1857 c. clxviii.

Changes to legislation:
There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1868, Section 41.