COMMENTARY ON SECTIONS

Part 4: Priority Qualifications and Approval of Qualifications

Section 28: Transitional provision in connection with withdrawal of approval

64. Qualifications Wales may make arrangements to continue treating a form of a qualification, approval of which has been withdrawn, as if it is approved, for a specified time and for specified purposes, in order to avoid prejudice to learners – for example, in order to provide an opportunity for learners to resit the qualification. This provision is similar to the transitional provision that may be made in connection with the surrender of approval, as described in the notes for section 26.
