1. channelling;
2. modulation/occupied bandwidth;
3. direction/separation;
4. transmit power/power density;
5. channel access and occupation rules;
6. authorisation regime;
7. additional essential requirements according to Article 3(3) of Directive 1999/5/EC;
8. frequency planning assumptions.

ANNEX II

Format for Information on Rights of Use

Information on Rights of Use may be limited to frequency bands used for the provision of electronic communications services, which are tradable in accordance with Article 9.3 of Directive 2002/21/EC or which are granted through competitive or comparative selection procedures pursuant to Directive 2002/20/EC.

For relevant frequency bands Member States shall provide in accordance with the requirements of Directive 95/46/EC and Directive 2002/58/EC and Community and national rules on business confidentiality, the following information:

1. the identity of the radio frequency right holder;
2. the expiry date of the right or, in the case where there is none, the expected duration;
3. the geographic validity of the right by at least providing the information whether the right is local (i.e. one station), regional or nation-wide;
4. an indication of whether or not the right is tradable.
