A genetically modified micro-organism is classified into Group I when all of the following criteria are satisfied:—

(1) The recipient or parental micro-organism is unlikely to cause disease to humans, animals or plants.

(2) The nature of the vector and the insert is such that they do not endow the genetically modified micro-organism with a phenotype likely to cause disease to humans, animals or plants, or likely to cause adverse effects in the environment.

(3) The genetically modified micro-organism is unlikely to cause disease to humans, animals or plants and is unlikely to cause adverse effects in the environment.

Part II

Criteria for the classification of organisms other than micro-organisms

An organism which satisfies the criteria of this Part is a genetically modified organism—

- (a) which is not a micro-organism; and
- (b) which is as safe in the containment facility as any recipient or parental organism.”

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations amend the Genetically Modified Organisms (Contained Use) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1994 (“the principal Regulations”) in the following ways—

Paragraph 2(a) of Schedule 1

1. Council Directive 90/219/EEC (O.J. No. L117, 8.5.90, p. 1), on the contained use of genetically modified micro-organisms, implemented by the principal Regulations, applies to the States of the European Economic Area by virtue of the Agreement on the European Economic Area. A definition of “member State”, which includes those States, is, therefore, inserted into regulation 2(1) of the principal Regulations. Definitions of “the European Economic Area” and “the Agreement” are also inserted into that regulation.

2. The definition of “organism” in regulation 2(1) of the principal Regulations is amended to exclude humans and human embryos, which are outside the scope of the above Directive.

Paragraphs 2(b), 5 and 6 of Schedule 1; Schedule 2

3. Regulation 2(2) of, and Schedule 2 to, the principal Regulations are replaced, to implement the new classification criteria for micro-organisms contained in Commission Directive 94/51/EC (O.J. No. L297, 18.11.94, p. 29), which adapts to technical progress Council Directive 90/219/EEC. There are minor consequential amendments to regulation 9 of, and paragraph 3(e) of Schedule 1 to, the principal Regulations.

Paragraph 3 of Schedule 1

4. By Article 5 of Council Directive 90/219/EEC, genetically modified micro-organisms marketed in accordance with other Community legislation providing equivalent risk assessment to that required under the said Directive are excluded from the scope of that Directive as regards storage, transport, destruction and disposal. The exemptions contained in regulation 6(2)(a) of the principal Regulations are extended to exclude from the prohibitions in regulation 6(1) certain medicinal products marketed in accordance with Council Regulation (EEC) No. 2309/93 (O.J. No. L214, 24.8.93, p. 1).

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Paragraph 4 of Schedule 1

5. Regulation 8(2) of the principal Regulations is amended to provide that a separate notification is not required where a consent for Group II micro-organisms has already been granted and it is intended to use the premises for activities involving Group I organisms, or where simultaneous notification is being given for activities involving Group I and II organisms at the same premises.
