of 20 December 2004

(2004/920/EC)

THE COMMISSION OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community,

Having regard to Directive 2003/54/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 June 2003 concerning common rules for the internal market in electricity and repealing Directive 96/92/EC<sup>(1)</sup>, and in particular Article 26(1) thereof,

Whereas:

- (1) Article 26(1) of Directive 2003/54/EC provides that Member States which can demonstrate, after the Directive has been brought into force, that there are substantial problems for the operation of their small isolated systems, may apply for derogations from the relevant provisions of Chapters IV, V, VI, VII, as well as Chapter III, in the case of micro isolated systems, as far as refurbishing, upgrading and expansion of existing capacity are concerned, which may be granted to them by the Commission.
- (2) Portugal submitted to the Commission on 29 June 2004 an application for derogation for an indefinite period of time from the provisions of Chapters III, IV, V, VI, VII under Article 26(1) of Directive 2003/54/EC concerning the archipelago of the Azores.
- (3) The archipelago of the Azores qualifies as a 'micro isolated system' as defined in Article 2(27) of Directive 2003/54/EC.
- (4) The archipelago of the Azores' peculiar characteristics of remoteness, insularity, small size, difficult topography and climate, have been acknowledged in Article 299(2) of the EC Treaty.
- (5) The documents annexed to the Portuguese application give sufficient evidence that the objective of a competitive market in electricity is impossible or impractical to achieve given the very small level of production and the fact that the islands are also isolated from one another. In such a very small system, it is often not possible to have

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Commission Decision of 20 December 2004 on a derogation from certain provisions of Directive 2003/54/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council concerning the archipelago of the Azores (notified under document number C(2004) 4880) (Only the Portuguese text is authentic) (2004/920/EC). more than one generating facility per island, which makes the presence of competing generators very unlikely. The size of the market will hardly stimulate the application for authorisations or bids for tenders. Furthermore, there is no high voltage transmission system, and without competition in production the Directive's requirements regarding the unbundling of distribution systems lose their justification. The same considerations are valid concerning third party access to the system.

- (6) The Commission, having examined the justification of Portugal's request, is satisfied that the derogation and the conditions for its application will not prejudice the achievement of the objectives of the Directive.
- (7) However, possible technological developments in the medium and long term that may bring about substantial changes need to be taken into account.
- (8) The Commission has consulted all Member States as prescribed in Article 26(1) of Directive 2003/54/EC,
