2003 No. 2902

The Employment (Northern Ireland) Order 2003

PART IV

DISPUTE RESOLUTION, ETC.

Statutory procedures

Consequential adjustment of time limits: industrial tribunals

21.—(1) The Department may, in relation to a jurisdiction listed in Schedule 2 or 3, by regulations make provision about the time limit for beginning proceedings in respect of a claim concerning a matter to which a statutory procedure applies.

(2) Regulations under this Article may, in particular—

- (a) make provision extending, or authorising the extension of, the time for beginning proceedings,
- (b) make provision about the exercise of a discretion to extend the time for beginning proceedings, or
- (c) make provision treating proceedings begun out of time as begun within time.
