
STATUTORY RULES OF NORTHERN IRELAND

1996 No. 421

The Disability Discrimination (Meaning of Disability) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1996

Babies and Young Children

6. For the purposes of the Act where a child under six years of age has an impairment which does not have an effect falling within paragraph 4(1) of Schedule 1 to the Act that impairment is to be taken to have a substantial and long-term adverse effect on the ability of that child to carry out normal day-to-day activities where it would normally have a substantial and long-term adverse effect on the ability of a person aged 6 years or over to carry out normal day-to-day activities.
