EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations amend the Education (Student Loans) (Repayment) Regulations 2000 (“the 2000 Regulations”). The amending regulations concern the provision of information to the Department by borrowers of student loans and the imposition of penalties upon failure to do so. They also increase the earnings threshold for repayment.

Regulation 3 amends Regulation 10(2) of the 2000 Regulations to provide that where penalties, costs or expenses are charged as a result of a failure to provide information, these will be satisfied first wherever a repayment is received.

Regulation 4 inserts a series of new regulations into the 2000 Regulations. The first of these, regulation 13A, creates a requirement that borrowers must inform the Department each time that their home address or name changes.

Regulation 13B provides that the Department may serve an Information Notice on a borrower requiring him to provide certain information. The borrower must comply with the Notice within 28 days of service.

Regulation 13C allows the Department to impose penalties on borrowers where they have failed to comply with a requirement to provide information, whether the loan is due for repayment or not. The Department must inform the borrower of the penalty by serving a Penalty Notice on him.

Regulation 13D sets out the circumstances where the Department may require the reimbursement of costs and expenses by a borrower.

Regulation 13E gives the Department a discretion in a particular case to relax a time limit contained in regulation 13B or regulation 13C and to specify another time limit.

Regulation 5 raises the earning threshold for repayment from £10,000 to £15,000 from 6th April 2005. This amendment applies to all borrowers regardless of the date that their liability to repay arose.

Regulation 6 amends regulation 15 of the 2000 Regulations to correct a drafting error.
