Article 14 of the 2004 Order inserts new Articles 77A to 77F into the Employment Rights (Northern Ireland) Order 1996 (“the 1996 Order”). These Articles contain protections for workers against being offered inducements by their employer not to be or to be a member of a trade union, not to take part in the activities of or not to make use of the services of their union, and not to have, or to give up having, their terms and conditions of employment determined by a collective agreement negotiated by their union.
