Retirement benefits – pension and lump sum

23. For regulations E5 and E6 substitute—

“Eligibility for payment of phased retirement benefits

E4A.—(1) In these Regulations “phased retirement benefits” means retirement benefits to which a person may be eligible under this regulation.

(2) A person in pensionable employment who is qualified for retirement benefits is eligible to receive a part of his retirement benefits before he becomes entitled to payment of them if—

- (a) he has attained the age of 55, and
- (b) his employer at the time of an election pursuant to paragraph (4) has certified that he will continue in pensionable employment such as to result in a reduction of contributable salary of at least 25%, as compared with the average annual rate of his contributable salary for the six months prior to the end of his previous employment, from the first day of pensionable employment at the reduced contributable salary.

(3) A person who is qualified for retirement benefits is also eligible to receive part of his retirement benefits before he becomes entitled to payment of them if—

- (a) he has attained the age of 55,
 - (b) after attaining that age he ceases to be in pensionable employment,
 - (c) within six months of the last day of that employment has—
 - (i) secured further pensionable employment, or
 - (ii) secured further employment in a school, college or university otherwise than as a teacher, and
 - (d) his employer in the further employment has certified that there has been a reduction in his contributable salary of at least 25%, as compared with the average annual rate of his contributable salary for the six months prior to the end of his previous employment, from the first day of further employment at the reduced contributable salary.
- (4) Eligibility to phased retirement benefits pursuant to this regulation is conditional upon—
- (a) the person making a maximum of two elections for such benefits, and each election is accompanied by certification as prescribed in paragraph (2)(b) or (3) (d) and
 - (b) the election being made within three months of starting employment as referred to in paragraph (2)(b) or securing further employment as referred to in paragraph (3).
- (5) Subject to paragraph (7) the election shall specify a percentage (“the election percentage”), not exceeding 75% by reference to which retirement benefits are to be calculated in accordance with paragraphs (8) to (10).
- (6) Where in the 12 month period following the reduction of contributable salary, a person receives an increase in excess of the standard increase as defined in regulation E31(13)(c) in remuneration such as to give that person 75% or more of his salary prior to that reduction, then any election made pursuant to this regulation ceases to have effect.
- (7) Where the person is a person with mixed service the election may specify that it only applies to the part of the person’s effective reckonable service which was before the start of the new employment after the relevant break of service or only applies to the part of the person’s effective service which was after the start of the new employment after the relevant break of service.
- (8) Where the election is the first or only election the phased retirement benefits are calculated on the basis specified in regulation E5(2) and (where applicable) E6(2) but—
- (a) the person’s average salary is calculated as if his average salary service ended immediately at the date of the change in pensionable employment, and
 - (b) the person’s effective reckonable service is the election percentage of his reckonable service up to the date of the change in pensionable employment.
- (9) Where the election is the second election, phased retirement benefits are calculated on the basis specified in regulation E5(2) and (where applicable) E6(2) but—
- (a) the person’s average salary is calculated in the manner specified in paragraph (8), and
 - (b) the person’s effective reckonable service is—
 - (i) the election percentage of the person’s reckonable service up to the date of the second change in pensionable employment, less
 - (ii) the amount of reckonable service calculated in accordance with paragraph (8)(b).

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

(10) Phased retirement benefits calculated in accordance with paragraph (8) or (9) are adjusted by multiplication by the appropriate factor, and (in the case of a retirement pension) the adjustment is effected in the same way as is specified in regulation E5(7).

(11) A person who has elected to pay additional contributions under regulation C2A and who has elected for phased retirement benefits, may elect also for payment in full of those additional benefits to which he is entitled under that regulation, multiplied by the appropriate factor in the same way as is specified in regulation E5A(6).

(12) In calculating the factor by which additional benefits referred to in paragraph (11) are to be multiplied and divided pursuant to regulation E5A(3) and (4)—

- (a) RI is the retail prices index for the second month before the month in which the change in pensionable employment occurred, and
- (b) the definition of X has effect as if for “the date on which the person became entitled to payment of retirement benefits” there were substituted “the date of the change in pensionable employment”.

(13) Where the employer referred to in paragraph (3)(d) is unable to certify as prescribed in that paragraph because the previous employer has not provided him with the necessary information, the Department may determine nevertheless whether the person shall be entitled to phased retirement benefits.

(14) In this regulation “change in pensionable employment”, where the person falls within paragraph (2), is the day before the date on which contributable salary is reduced, and where the person falls within paragraph (3) is the date of leaving previous pensionable employment.

Amount of retirement pension

E5.—(1) The annual rate of a person’s retirement pension is the rate specified in paragraph (2) together with the rate specified in regulation E5A where that regulation applies (but nothing in this regulation or regulation E5A shall prevent different parts of a person’s retirement pension being paid at different times if the person becomes entitled to the parts at different times).

(2) Subject to paragraphs (4) and (6) to (13) and regulations E6A to E10, the rate is —

- (a) in the case of a pre-1st April 2007 entrant, 1/80th of the person’s average salary multiplied by his effective reckonable service,
- (b) in the case of a 1st April 2007 or later entrant, 1/60th of the person’s average salary multiplied by his effective reckonable service, and
- (c) in the case of a person with mixed service the aggregate of—
 - (i) 1/80th of the person’s average salary multiplied by that part of his effective reckonable service which was before the post-break employment start.
 - (ii) 1/60th of the person’s average salary multiplied by that part of his effective reckonable service which was after the post-break employment start.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph (2) reckonable service is to be expressed in years and fractions of a year.

(4) If—

- (a) the person is entitled to count a period as reckonable service by virtue of regulation D3 (past period for which additional contributions have been paid), and
- (b) by reason of regulation E32(3) part of that period does not count in calculating his retirement lump sum, the annual rate calculated in accordance with paragraph (2) is, in respect of each year comprised in that part, increased by 1/350th of his average salary.

(5) In paragraphs (6) to (9) “the basic rate” is the rate calculated in accordance with paragraphs (2) and (4) and, where appropriate, regulation E7 or E9 (but disregarding the effect of regulation E10).

(6) Subject to paragraphs (7) to (9), where—

- (a) a person who has become entitled to payment of retirement benefits by virtue of regulation E4(5), or
- (b) a person has become entitled to payment of retirement benefits by virtue of regulation E4(7AC), the basic rate is adjusted as specified in paragraph (7).

(7) The adjustments are—

- (a) in the case of a pre-1st April 2007 entrant, multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 60,
- (b) in the case of a 1st April 2007 or later entrant, multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 65,
- (c) in the case of a person with mixed service who has not attained the age of 60, multiplication of that part of the annual rate of such pension referred to in paragraph (2)(c)(i) by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 60 and multiplication of that part of the annual rate of such pension referred to in paragraph (2)(c)(ii) by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 65, and
- (d) in the case of a person with mixed service who has attained the age of 60, multiplication of that part of the annual rate of such pension referred to in paragraph (2)(c)(ii) by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 65.

(8) Where the person falls within paragraph (6)(a) and—

- (a) the person has a guaranteed minimum in relation to employment up to 6th April 1997, and
- (b) A exceeds B, where

A is the annual equivalent of his guaranteed minimum pension together with that of any equivalent pension benefits, and

B is the basic rate, where applicable, adjusted in accordance with paragraphs (6) and (7)

the annual rate of his retirement pension is A.

(9) Where a 1st April 2007 or later entrant or a person with mixed service has effective reckonable service which has occurred after he attained the age of 65 the basic rate is adjusted as specified in paragraph (10).

(10) The adjustments are—

- (a) in the case of a 1st April 2007 or later entrant, multiplication of the annual rate of that part of his retirement pension which relates to effective reckonable service before the person attained the age of 65, by the relevant enhancement factor, and
- (b) in the case of a person with mixed service, multiplication of that part of his retirement pension which relates to the part of his effective reckonable service before the person attained the age of 65 but after the post-break employment start, by the relevant enhancement factor.

(11) In paragraph (10) “the relevant enhancement factor” means a factor (related to the length of the period which has elapsed between the person’s 65th birthday and the date (after his 65th birthday) on which he became entitled to retirement benefits) determined from time to time for the purpose of this regulation by the Department after taking advice from the Government Actuary.

(12) If a contributions equivalent premium has been paid in respect of the person and has not been refunded (and his entitlement to a guaranteed minimum pension is therefore extinguished) the annual rate of his retirement pension is reduced by the annual equivalent of the guaranteed minimum pension to which he would otherwise have been entitled.

(13) Where a person has received phased retirement benefits, the person’s effective reckonable service is reduced by the amount of reckonable service (determined under regulation E4A(8) and, where applicable, regulation E4A(9)) taken into account in calculating phased retirement benefits.

Retirement pension when election has been made under regulation C2A

E5A.—(1) This regulation applies where one or more elections under regulation C2A have been accepted by the Department and have not ceased to have effect.

(2) Where this regulation applies the annual rate of a person’s retirement pension is (in addition to the annual rate specified in regulation E5(2)) the aggregate of the annual rates with which the person has been credited pursuant to each election and Schedule 2A, multiplied by the factor specified in paragraph (3) and divided by the factor (if it is greater than one) specified in paragraph (4).

(3) The factor in this paragraph is RI/RE where—

RI is the retail prices index for second month before the month in which the person becomes entitled to the part of his retirement pension referred to in this regulation, and

RE is the retail prices index for the month which includes the start date, as defined in paragraph 1 of Schedule 2A, for the election in question.

(4) The factor in this paragraph is X/Y where—

X is the amount which would have been the annual rate of the person’s retirement pension calculated in accordance with the combined effect of paragraphs (2) and (3) (as if in paragraph (2) the words “and divided by the factor (if it is greater than one) specified in paragraph (4)” had been omitted) and any increases effected by the 1971 Act up to the date on which the person became entitled to payment of retirement benefits, and

Y is the amount which would have been the annual rate of the person’s retirement pension calculated in accordance with paragraphs (2) and (3) if in paragraph (2) the words “and divided by the factor (if it is greater than one) specified in paragraph (4)” had been omitted and if the 1971 Act did not apply.

(5) Where regulation E5(6) applies, the annual rate of the person’s retirement pension calculated in accordance with paragraphs (2) and (3) shall be adjusted as specified in paragraph (6).

(6) The adjustments are—

(a) in the case of a pre-1st April 2007 entrant, multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 60,

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

- (b) in the case of a 1st April 2007 or later entrant, multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 65, and
 - (c) in the case of a person with mixed service who falls within regulation E4(2B) who has not attained the age of 60, multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 60, and
 - (d) in the case of a person with mixed service other than a person such as is referred to in regulation E4(2B), multiplication of the annual rate of such pension by the appropriate factor for a person with a normal pension age of 65.
- (7) In this regulation “the 1971 Act” means the Pensions (Increase) Act (Northern Ireland) 1971(15).

E6.—(1) This regulation applies to a pre-1st April 2007 entrant and a person with mixed service.

(2) Subject to paragraphs (4), (5), (7) and (8) and regulations E7 and E8, the amount of retirement lump sum for a person to whom this regulation applies is $A \times (B + C)$ where—

A is 3/80ths of the person’s average salary

B is, in the case of a pre-1st April 2007 entrant, his effective reckonable service or, in the case of a person with a mixed service, that part of his effective reckonable service which was before the post-break employment start (except, in either case, any falling within C), and

C is the period which he is entitled to count as reckonable service by virtue of regulation D3 (past period for which additional contributions have been paid).

(3) For the purposes of paragraph (2), reckonable service is to be expressed in years and fractions of a year.

(4) A person’s retirement lump sum cannot exceed his permitted maximum.

(5) Where—

(a) person to whom this regulation applies who has become entitled to payment of retirement benefits by virtue of regulation E4(5) before attaining the age of 60 has ceased to be in pensionable employment, or

(b) a person to whom this regulation applies has become entitled to payment of retirement benefits by virtue of regulation E4(7AC) before attaining the age of 60, the amount of the person’s retirement lump sum shall be the amount calculated in accordance with paragraph (2) multiplied by the appropriate factor.

(6) A person who has attained the age of 75 is not entitled to a lump sum.

(7) Where a person has received phased retirement benefits the person’s effective reckonable service shall be calculated in accordance with regulation E5(13).

(8) Where an election to receive phased retirement benefits ceased to have effect by virtue of regulation E4A(6), then the amount of a person’s retirement lump sum on entitlement to retirement benefits is reduced by any lump sum under regulation E6 received pursuant to that election.

Lump sum in place of part of pension

E6A.—(1) Subject to paragraph (4) a person may, by an election made with the application for payment under regulation E33(2), elect to receive a further lump sum of such amount as is specified in the election (subject to paragraph (2)) in place of part of his retirement pension.

(2) The amount of such lump sum must be a multiple of £12 and cannot exceed—

- (a) in the case of a 1st April 2007 or later entrant, his permitted maximum, and
- (b) in the case of a pre-1st April 2007 entrant or a person with mixed service, his permitted maximum less his retirement lump sum.

(3) Where a lump sum is paid under this regulation, the annual rate of the person's retirement pension is reduced by £1 for every £12 of lump sum.

(4) This regulation does not apply to a person who is a pre-1st April 2007 entrant and falls within regulation EA1(3)(a).

(5) Paragraph (6) applies where—

- (a) a person has elected to receive phased retirement benefits and has also elected pursuant to this regulation (“the first election”) to receive a further lump sum in place of part of the retirement pension comprised in the phased retirement benefits, but
- (b) the election to receive phased retirement benefits ceased to have effect by virtue of regulation E4A(6).

(6) Where this paragraph applies the person is treated, on becoming entitled to payment of retirement benefits, as having elected pursuant to this regulation to receive a further lump sum of the appropriate amount, and the appropriate amount is then reduced by the lump sum paid to the person pursuant to the first election.

(7) Paragraph (8) applies where a person to whom regulation E15 applies elected pursuant to this regulation (“the first election”) to receive a further lump sum in place of part of the first pension.

(8) Where this paragraph applies the person is treated, on becoming entitled to payment of retirement benefits pursuant to regulation E15(2) or (4) as having elected pursuant to this regulation to receive a further lump sum of the appropriate amount, and the appropriate amount is then reduced by the lump sum paid to the person pursuant to the first election.

(9) In this regulation—

- (a) “the appropriate amount” is the amount [rounded to the nearest £12] such that the proportion which the rate of retirement pension forgone bears to the rate of retirement pension to which the person is entitled is the same as the proportion which the rate of retirement pension forgone pursuant to the first election bore to—
 - (i) the rate of retirement pension to which the person was eligible pursuant to the election made under regulation E4A, where the person falls within paragraph (5), or
 - (ii) the rate of the first pension, where the person falls within paragraph (7),
- (b) “the first pension” has the same meaning as in regulation E15(1)(a).

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations amend the Teachers' Superannuation Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1998 and also the Teachers' Superannuation (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1996 and the Teachers (Compensation for Redundancy and Premature Retirement) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1991.

Schedule 1 contains amendments to the Teachers' Superannuation (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1996. Paragraph 1(b) amends regulation 2 so that "dependant" includes a person in whose favour a nomination under regulation E22A of the Principal Regulations has effect. Paragraph 4 amends regulation 12 so that benefits may be provided from the age of 55 (rather than when a person became entitled to benefits under the Principal Regulations) and to change the options available if the participator dies within five years after the retirement pension commences. The other amendments are consequential on the amendments to the Principal Regulations or are drafting amendments.

Schedule 2 contains amendments to the Teachers' (Compensation for Redundancy and Premature Retirement) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1991. Paragraph 4 amends regulation 11 so that long-term compensation payable to a survivor is payable for life if the teacher was in pensionable employment after 31 March 2007. The other amendments are consequential on the amendments to the Principal Regulations or are drafting amendments.

The amendments to the Teachers Superannuation Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1998 ("the Principal Regulations") are contained in Schedule 3.

Regulation B1 of the Principal Regulations is amended so that part-time employment is pensionable without the person having to make an election. However, where the person was in part-time employment on 31st March 2007 the employment is not pensionable unless an election is made to this effect. Regulation B1 of the Principal Regulations is also amended to provide that, where a person is in full-time employment and at the same time in part-time employment, the part-time employment is not pensionable. (Paragraph 1(b) and (c) of Schedule 3).

New provisions are also made to allow teachers in independent schools to become members of the Scheme (providing certain conditions are met). (Paragraphs 1(a) and 2 of Schedule 3).

Regulation B3 of the Principal Regulations is amended so that the maximum age at which a person can be in pensionable employment is increased from the age of compulsory retirement (65) to 75. (Paragraph 3(a) of Schedule 3).

A further amendment to Regulation B1 provides that where a person was in such employment on 31st March 2007 the employment is not pensionable unless an election to that effect is made and there are also special provisions relating to persons who go back to employment after retiring on ill health grounds. (Paragraph 3(b) of Schedule 3).

New provisions are made under which members may acquire additional pension benefits. Regulations C3, C4 and C6 of the Principal Regulations which provided for members to be able to purchase added years are omitted. However, where persons are currently making contributions in order to purchase added years they can continue to do so. In place of these provisions the new regulation C2A of, and the new Schedule 2A to, the Principal Regulations provides for persons to be able to elect to pay additional contributions, either as a lump sum or in monthly payments, and in return to receive an increased pension with or without increased benefits for dependants. The new regulation E5A provides for such increased pension; the amount of the pension specified in the election is indexed linked up to the month in which the person becomes entitled to retirement benefits. If the election specifies benefits for dependants the new Regulation E29A provides that they are at a rate which is half the rate of the increased pension. (Paragraphs 7 – 10, 23, 42 and 61 of Schedule 3, Schedule 4 and paragraphs 6 to 8 of Schedule 5).

Regulation E4 of the Principal Regulations is amended to provide that the minimum age at which a person who is not a “post 5th April 2006 entrant” can be entitled to benefits under regulation E4(7) (redundancy or efficient discharge of employer’s functions) is raised from 50 to 55 where the person has not reached the age of 50 before 6th April 2010. (Paragraph 22(e)(ii) of Schedule 3).

New provisions are made for normal pension age in place of the provision that persons are, broadly speaking, entitled to benefits at the age of 60. Where a person enters pensionable employment for the first time on or after 1st April 2007, his normal pension age will be 65. A person who was in employment on 1st April 2007 however retains a normal pension age of 60. If such a person has a break of service of five years or less this will not affect his pension age. However, there are special provisions for a person who has a break of service of five years or more (defined as a person with mixed service). The definitions of “normal pension age” and related terms are contained in the new regulation EA1 of the Principal Regulations and regulation E4 which deals with entitlement to benefits is amended accordingly. (Paragraphs 19 and 22 (a) to (c), (d)(i), e(i) and (f) of Schedule 3).

New provisions are made in Regulation E4 of the Principal Regulations to provide for a new case G. This allows a person to retire and to elect to receive his pension benefits before normal retirement age, known as actuarially reduced benefits. The employer’s consent, which cannot be withheld for more than six months from the date on which the teacher notified his employer of his wishes, is required where the teacher is in pensionable or excluded employment at the time of his application. (Paragraph 22 (f).) Regulation 23 amends regulations E5 and E6 of the 1998 Regulations to give effect to the amount of the actuarially reduced pension and lump sum to be paid. (Paragraphs 23 (E5) (6) and (7), and paragraph 23 E6 (4)).

There are related changes to the way in which retirement benefits are calculated. Where a person has a normal pension age of 60 there is no change; the person receives a lump sum and pension calculated by reference to 80ths of the person’s average salary. Where, however, the person has a pensionable age of 65 he will receive a pension calculated by reference to 60ths of his average salary but will not receive a lump sum (unless he elects to commute a part of his pension under new regulation E6A described below). Again, there are special provisions for persons with mixed service. (Paragraph 23 of Schedule 3 – the substituted regulations E5 and E6).

Provision is made by the new regulation E4A of the Principal Regulations to allow a person to elect to receive some of his pension benefits without the requirement of having to retire, known as phased retirement benefits. To be eligible, a person needs to have reached the age of 55 and either is to continue in his employment or has secured further employment elsewhere. In both cases, his employer has to certify that he taken a minimum reduction in salary of 25% compared to before he applied for phased retirement benefits. A person can choose to make up to two such elections of his pension benefits before retirement. The amount of phased retirement benefits is calculated as set out in regulation E5 and (where applicable) E6 but taking into account adjustments. The average salary is calculated as the person’s average salary immediately before the change in employment and the effective reckonable service is the percentage of the election up to the date of that change. Similar adjustment is made for any additional benefits to be paid as part of the phased retirement benefits.

New provision is made under which, where a person has a normal pension age of 65, and accrues reckonable service after reaching that age, his pension is actuarially enhanced – the substituted regulation E5(9) to (13).

Further changes are made to the provisions relating to the lump sum (regulation E6 of the Principal Regulations). Paragraph (4) of the substituted regulation E6 provides that a person’s lump sum cannot exceed his “permitted maximum” defined in Schedule 1 by reference to the Finance Act 2004; paragraph (6) provides that a person aged 75 or over cannot receive a lump sum. The new regulation

E6B however provides that where a person is prevented from receiving a lump sum because he is 75 or over he will receive an increased pension.

New regulation E6A of the Principal Regulations contains new provisions whereby a person may elect to receive a further lump sum in place of part of his pension. If such an election is made the annual rate of pension is reduced by £1 for every £12 of lump sum.

New provisions are made for persons who retire on ill health grounds; they apply where the application for retirement benefits was received by the Department on or after 6th April 2007. The existing provisions will continue to apply where the application was received before that date. Under the new provisions, a person who is not in pensionable employment or taking a period of unpaid leave or a career break immediately following pensionable employment is only entitled to benefits if, as well as being incapacitated, his ability to carry out work is impaired by more than 90% and likely permanently to be so (regulation E4(4) Principal Regulations). Where however a person is in pensionable employment or taking unpaid leave or a career break immediately following pensionable employment and is entitled to benefits he will also be entitled to payment of an additional “total incapacity pension” and, where applicable, lump sum if his ability to carry out work is impaired by more than 90% and is likely permanently to be so (new regulation E8A). New regulation E13A provides for a person who ceases to be incapacitated. Where he has received the additional total incapacity pension but the person’s ability to carry out work ceases to be impaired by more than 90% the total incapacity pension ceases to be payable. If a person ceases to be incapacitated his retirement pension ceases to be payable. If a person takes up certain types of employment his ability to carry out work is treated as ceasing to be 90% impaired or (as the case may be) he is treated as ceasing to be incapacitated. Regulation E33 is also amended to make explicit provision that an application for ill health retirement pension must be signed by the person’s employer and must be accompanied by necessary medical evidence. (Paragraphs 22(d)(ii), 25, 28 and 47(a) of Schedule 3).

Regulation E11 of, and Schedule 10 to, the Principal Regulations, which provide for allocation of part of retirement pension to the provision of alternative benefits is omitted, subject to savings. (Paragraphs 27 and 69 of Schedule 3 and paragraph 9 of Schedule 5).

Regulation E20 (death grant) is amended to provide that where the death occurs on or after 1st April 2007 death grant is three times average salary (Paragraph 31(b) of Schedule 3).

Regulations E20 and E21 are amended to require any death grant or supplementary death grant to be paid, in the absence of another nominee, to a surviving nominated partner (paragraphs 31(d) and 32(d) of Schedule 3).

Provision is made for benefits under the Principal Regulations to be paid to the surviving partner of a member (who is not his surviving spouse or surviving civil partner). New regulation E22A provides for the member to make a nomination and for the circumstances in which the nominee becomes a “surviving nominated partner” who is entitled to benefits (paragraph 34 of Schedule 3).

Regulations E22, E24 to E28 and E30 are amended to provide for short- and long-term pensions to be paid to the surviving nominated partner (paragraphs 33(a), 36(b) and (d), 37, 38(a), 39(k) and (l), 40(2)(a), (b), (e) and (g) and 43(a)) of Schedule 3). The service that counts for the purpose of calculating a surviving nominated partner’s pension is specified in new paragraph (7B) of regulation E28; but regulation C8 and Schedule 6 are amended to enable a member to pay family benefit contributions to make periods of his service (which would otherwise not do so) count for the purpose of calculating such a pension (paragraphs 12 and 67(i) of Schedule 3). Regulation E29 is amended to provide for the calculation of long-term pensions payable to children where a pension is payable to a surviving nominated partner (paragraph 41 of Schedule 3).

Regulation E23, which relates to the nomination of close relatives to receive benefits under the Principal Regulations, is given a new heading to avoid confusion with new regulation E22A. Amendments are made to provide that, if a partner is nominated under regulation E22A, any previous nomination made under regulation E23 ceases to have effect and no such nomination may be made while the nomination under regulation E22A is current (paragraph 35 of Schedule 3). Regulation

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

E26 is amended so that a person nominated under regulation E23 does not receive a pension if he is co-habiting at the date of the member's death (paragraph 38(b) and (c) of Schedule 3).

Regulation E27 is amended to clarify the periods of service which count for the purpose of a pension payable to widowers and to surviving civil partners where a transfer value has been accepted in respect of comparable British service (paragraph 39(c), (e), (f), (g) and (j) of Schedule 3).

Regulation E30 is amended so that a pension payable to a survivor is payable for life if the member was in pensionable employment after 31st March 2007 or was paying or had paid additional contributions under old regulation C6 or regulation C7 in respect of that period.

Regulation E31 of the Principal Regulations is amended and regulation E31A inserted to make new provisions for determining a person's average salary on which benefits are calculated. The effect of the amendments, when taken with section 8(2)(a) of the Pensions (Increase) Act (Northern Ireland) 1971, is that a person's salary is either the salary in the last 365 days of service or the average of the salary, indexed linked up to the date when the average salary service ended, for the best 1,095 consecutive days of service in the previous ten years. Under transitional provisions, the existing provisions continue to apply where a person's entitlement to benefits took effect before 1st April 2007. Where a person became entitled to benefits on or after 1st April 2007 but before 1st April 2009, the average salary will either be that calculated under the old provisions or that calculated under the new provisions whichever is the higher. There are amendments to introduce a 10% cap on any salary increase in each of the last three years if the last year is the best year and introduces obligations on employers to meet the cost of the additional pension benefits; new provisions also detail the necessary course of action should the employer not meet the additional cost. (Paragraphs 29 (c)(i) and (ii) and (d), 44 and 45 of Schedule 3 and paragraph 10 of Schedule 5).

Regulation E32 (effective reckonable service) of the Principal Regulations is amended so that there is no longer a restriction on reckonable service including service in excess of 40 years before reaching 60. (Paragraph 46(a) of Schedule 3).

Regulation H1 of the Principal Regulations, which provides for modifications where a person is employed at a reduced salary, is amended so that it will only apply (where the person continues to be employed by the same employer) where the reduced rate of contributable salary had effect before 1st April 2007 or (where the person had a break in employment) where the old employment ceased before 1st April 2007 and the new employment started before 1st May 2007. (Paragraph 54 of Schedule 3).

New provisions are made (new regulation H6A of the Principal Regulations) whereby the Department may, before paying a lump sum require a declaration to be made relating to the recycling of the lump sum by the person to whom the payment is to be made. (Paragraph 55 of Schedule 3).

Paragraphs 56 – 60 of Schedule 3 amend Part I of the Principal Regulations (pension sharing). The amendments reflect the change to the normal pension age described above and the new provisions whereby persons can commute part of their pension into a lump sum.

The definition of "appropriate factor" in Schedule 1 to the Principal Regulations, which is the factor by which a pension or lump sum is actuarially reduced in the case of early retirement, is inserted. Under this definition, the "appropriate factor" is determined from time to time by the Department after taking advice from the Government Actuary. (Paragraph 61 of Schedule 3). Parts II and IIA of Schedule 6 are also amended to remove the tables and factors (for the purpose of calculating the cost of making past years service count for pension benefits for survivors) from the Principal Regulations and provide for these to be determined in the same way (paragraph 67(b)-(h) of Schedule 3).

The other amendments to the Principal Regulations are consequential on the matters set out above or are drafting amendments.
