EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order makes provisions in consequence of the Legal Profession and Legal Aid (Scotland) Act 2007 (“the 2007 Act”).

Part 1 of the 2007 Act establishes the Scottish Legal Complaints Commission (“the Commission”) which is responsible for the investigation of complaints arising from the legal profession in Scotland. The Commission will, as from the relevant date (the date on which section 2 of the 2007 Act is fully commenced), replace the Scottish legal services ombudsman (“the ombudsman”). The office of the ombudsman will be abolished by an order under section 26(1) of the 2007 Act.

The ombudsman was, by virtue of sections 34 to 34B of, and schedule 3 to, the Law Reform (Miscellaneous Provisions) (Scotland) Act 1990 (“the 1990 Act”), responsible for the investigation of complaints about the handling of conduct complaints made under section 33 of that Act. Section 33 of the 1990 Act requires the professional organisation concerned to investigate complaints that a practitioner has been guilty of professional misconduct or has provided inadequate professional services. Section 33 is repealed by the Legal Services Act 2007.

Article 2 of the Order provides that a conduct complaint can continue to be made under section 33 of the 1990 Act where the complaint concerns professional misconduct occurring or, in the case of a complaint about inadequate professional services, services provided in connection with a matter first instructed, before the relevant date. However, the provision only has effect in relation to a complaint made to the Commission during the period beginning with the relevant date and ending 2 years from that date.

Article 3(1) of the Order repeals the ombudsman’s functions as specified under the 1990 Act.

Article 3(2) of the Order makes provision to ensure that, as from the relevant date, the Commission will have responsibility for the investigation of a relevant complaint (as defined in article 3(3)) under the 1990 Act. Articles 3(4) and 3(5) provide respectively that, as necessary, anything done by or in relation to the ombudsman in relation to a relevant complaint, can continue to be done or have effect as if done, by or in relation to the Commission.

Article 4 of the Order requires the Commission to include in its annual report under paragraph 16(1) of Schedule 1 to the 2007 Act, provision about the discharge of its functions in relation to a relevant complaint.

Article 5 of the Order provides that the Commission has access to all records and documents held by the ombudsman as are necessary for the purpose of carrying out any of its functions.

Article 6 of the Order repeals section 51(3)(f) of the Solicitors (Scotland) Act 1980 which enables the ombudsman to report cases of professional misconduct to the Scottish Solicitors’ Discipline Tribunal.

Article 7 of the Order revokes the Scottish Legal Services Ombudsman (Compensation) (Prescribed Amount) Order 2002, subject to a saving provision so that the maximum compensation payment specified in that Order is the maximum amount which may be recommended by the Commission in any report which it makes under section 34A of the 1990 Act following the investigation of a relevant complaint.
