Made - - - - *******
Coming into force - - 12th April 2010

Following the carrying out a review in Great Britain of the sums specified in section 150(1)(a) (i) (rates of benefits, etc) of the Social Security Administration Act 1992(1) (“the Great Britain Administration Act”) in the tax year ending with 5th April 2010, the Treasury have determined that the general level of prices was not greater at the end of the period under review than it was at the beginning.

In accordance with the discretion afforded by virtue of section 23 of the Welfare Reform Act 2009(2) (“the Reform Act”) the Treasury considered it appropriate, having regard to the national economic situation and other matters they considered relevant, to lay a draft of the following Order before each House of Parliament which increases the rates of child benefit described in the Order.

Section 132(1) of the Social Security Administration (Northern Ireland) Act 1992(3) (“the Northern Ireland Administration Act”) provides that, whenever the Treasury make an Order under section 150 of the Great Britain Administration Act, they may make corresponding provision in respect of Northern Ireland.

A draft of the following Order was laid before and has been approved by resolution of each House of Parliament in accordance with section 190(1)(a) of the Great Britain Administration Act, section 166(10A) of the Northern Ireland Administration Act(4) and section 23 of the Reform Act.

Accordingly, the Treasury make the following Order in the exercise of the powers conferred by sections 150(9) and 189(4) of the Great Britain Administration Act and by sections 132(1) and 165(4) of the Northern Ireland Administration Act and now vested in them(5).

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order is made by the Treasury following a review of the general level of prices conducted by them under section 150 of the Social Security Administration Act 1992 (c. 5) in the year ending 5th April 2010. Although the Treasury determined that the general level of prices was not greater at the end of the period under review than it was at the beginning, they have decided to use their discretion afforded by section 23 of the Welfare Reform Act 2009 (c. 24) to increase the weekly rates of child benefit provided for by regulation 2(1)(a) and (b) of the Child Benefit (Rates) Regulations 2006 (S.I. 2006/965) (“the Child Benefit Rates Regulations”) which were last amended by the Child Benefit (Rates) (Amendment) Regulations 2008 (S.I. 2008/3246).

Article 2 increases the weekly rate of child benefit prescribed in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) of regulation 2(1) of the Child Benefit Rates Regulations from £20.00 to £20.30 and from £13.20 to £13.40 respectively.
