ELIZABETH II

1986 CHAPTER xxi

An Act to reconstitute the Blyth Harbour Commissioners; to make further and other provision as to their powers and duties; to redefine the harbour limits at Blyth; and for connected or other purposes.

[7th November 1986]

WHEREAS—

(1) The harbour undertaking at Blyth, including a ferry undertaking, is by virtue of the Blyth Harbour Acts and Orders 1858 to 1977 vested in the Blyth Harbour Commissioners:

(2) It would conduce to greater efficiency if the number of the said Commissioners were reduced as in this Act provided, if other changes were made in their constitution, and if their method of selection were simplified:

(3) It is expedient that the powers of the Commissioners, including their power to borrow monies, should be increased, that the limits within which their powers are exercisable should be redefined and that their powers to maintain and operate ferry undertakings should be amended as in this Act provided:

(4) It is expedient that further provision should be enacted for the recovery of charges payable in respect of vessels or goods:

(5) It is expedient that certain penalties provided for under the Blyth Harbour Acts and Orders 1858 to 1977 should be increased and that certain provisions of those Acts and Orders should be amended or repealed:

(6) It is expedient that the other provisions of this Act be enacted:

(7) The purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted, by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—
