- (b) it appears to the Privy Council, after consultation with the Council of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, that the courses of study and examinations are such as orders under

s. 1.

2.—(1) If where an order under the foregoing section is in force it appears to the Council of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons that the courses of study and examinations leading to the degree to which the order relates are no longer such as to justify the continuance in force of the order, the said Council may make representations to that effect to the Privy Council.

(2) Where any representations are made under the last foregoing subsection, the Privy Council shall give notice to the university in question that the representations have been made together with such particulars thereof as may be requisite to enable the university to formulate their observations thereon or objections thereto.

(3) The Privy Council shall consider any representations made under this section, and any observations thereon or objections thereto made by the university in question within such time not less than one month from the giving of the notice under the last foregoing subsection as the Privy Council may determine, and may if they think fit by order revoke or suspend the order under the last foregoing section.

(4) An order under the last foregoing subsection for the suspension of an order under section one of this Act may be revoked by a subsequent order of the Privy Council if it appears to them expedient in consequence of representations made by the Council of the said College or by the university in question that the order under section one should be revived.

3.—(1) On the application of any university in the United Kingdom, not being a university in the case of which an order is for the time being in force under section one of this Act, the Privy Council may after consultation with the Council of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons direct that section four of the Veterinary Surgeons Act, 1881 (which requires that College to make provision for the examination of the students specified in that section and for their admission and registration if they pass the examination) shall apply to students in the university of such descriptions as may be specified in the direction.

(2) A direction under the last foregoing subsection shall cease to have effect on the coming into force of an order under section one of this Act, or may be revoked by a subsequent direction of the Privy Council made after consultation with the university in question and with the Council of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons.

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall authorise a person appointed thereunder to interfere with the conduct of any examination.

(4) On receipt of any report made under this section—

- (a) the Council shall send a copy thereof to the university or college concerned;
- (b) the university or college may within one month of the receipt of the copy make to the Council observations on the report or objections thereto;

(c) as soon as may be after the expiration of the said month the Council shall send a copy of the report and of any observations thereon or objections thereto duly made, together with the Council's comments on the report and on any such observations or objections, to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Secretary of State or the Minister of Agriculture for Northern Ireland, according as the university or college in question is in England or Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this section, where on an application thereunder it appears to the Council that the applicant was during the relevant period engaged as his principal means of livelihood wholly or mainly in the giving of treatment or the performing of operations specified in the First Schedule to this Act, the Council may refuse the application.

(4) Any application for registration under this section shall be made before the coming into operation of the last foregoing section, and shall be in the prescribed form and accompanied by such fee not exceeding one guinea as may be prescribed :

Provided that where it appears to the Council that a person has for sufficient reason failed to make application before the coming into operation of that section, the Council may direct that he shall be entitled to apply within such period as may be specified in the direction.

(5) Where the Council refuse an application for registration under this section made within the time limited by or under the last foregoing subsection, they shall state the reason for the refusal and the applicant may in accordance with rules of court appeal to the High Court, and the High Court may confirm or reverse the decision of the Council.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in section five of this Act, during the continuance in force of a licence under this section the holder thereof may in the course of his employment by the society or institution on whose representation the licence was granted, and subject to any conditions specified in the licence, give such medical or other treatment or for the relief of pain perform such minor operations as may be authorised by the licence.

(4) Without prejudice, in the case of an individual, to the foregoing provisions of this section, if any person uses any description in connection with any business carried on by him or any premises at which such a business is carried on, being in either case a description calculated to lead to the belief that he or any person acting for the purposes of the business possesses any veterinary qualifications which he does not in fact possess, he shall be guilty of an offence.
