- (2) It is by virtue of this section a term of every such tenancy that the tenant will not make any improvement without the written consent of the landlord.
- (3) The consent required by virtue of subsection (2) above is not to be unreasonably withheld and, if unreasonably withheld, shall be treated as given.
- (4) Subsections (1) to (3) above do not apply in any case where the tenant has been given a notice—

- (b) under section 52(1)(b) of this Act (notice that a tenancy is to be a protected shorthold tenancy);

82 Provisions as to consents required by section 81.

- (1) If any question arises whether the withholding of a consent required by virtue of section 81 above was unreasonable it is for the landlord to show that it was not; and in determining that question the court shall, in particular, have regard to the extent to which the improvement would be likely—
- (a) to make the dwelling-house, or any other premises, less safe for occupiers;
 - (b) to cause the landlord to incur the expenditure which it would be unlikely to incur if the improvement were not made; or
 - (c) to reduce the price which the dwelling-house would fetch if sold on the open market or the rent which the landlord would be able to charge on letting the dwelling-house.
- (2) A consent required by virtue of section 81 may be validly given notwithstanding that it follows, instead of preceding, the action requiring it and may be given subject to a condition.
- (3) Where the tenant has applied in writing for a consent which is required by virtue of section 81 then—
- (a) if the landlord refuses to give the consent it shall give to the tenant a written statement of the reasons why the consent was refused; and

Any failure by ^{F15} a protected tenant or a statutory tenant to satisfy any reasonable condition imposed by his landlord in giving consent to an improvement which the tenant proposes to make, or has made, shall be treated ^{F15} for the purposes of the 1977 Act as a breach by the tenant of an obligation of his tenancy or, as the case may be, of an obligation of the previous protected tenancy which is applicable to the statutory tenancy.
