

Slave Trade Act 1873

1873 CHAPTER 88

Miscellaneous

21 Appeal by Treasury.

The Treasury may appeal from any decree, order, or declaration which is made by any British slave court in pursuance of this Act and involves the payment by the Treasury of any bounty, costs, expenses, compensation, damages, or other moneys in like manner as if they were parties to the proceeding in which such decree, order, or declaration was made.
