

Light Railways Act 1896

1896 CHAPTER 48 59 and 60 Vict

23 Junctions with existing railways.

Any junction of a light railway authorised under this Act with any existing railway shall so far as is in the opinion of the Board of Trade reasonably practicable avoid interference with lines of rails used for passenger traffic.

Changes to legislation:

There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Light Railways Act 1896, Section 23.