(2) Where a motor vehicle is provided with a headlamp that lamp shall be so constructed and fitted to the vehicle that if that lamp were to be used to show a light to the front while the vehicle was driven on a road during the hours of darkness such use would not be in contravention of the provisions of Regulation 9 of the Road Vehicles Lighting Regulations, 1959(a).

(3) For the purposes of the foregoing provisions of this Regulation, a vehicle shall not be treated as provided with any such lamp as is mentioned in those provisions by reason of its carrying such a lamp if—or any lamp carried by a vehicle which is a land locomotive, a land tractor, a mobile crane, a works truck or a vehicle which is movable plant or equipment specially designed or constructed for the purposes of engineering operations, if the lamp is carried by the vehicle for the purpose of providing illumination so as to enable the vehicle to be used at night otherwise than on a road for the particular operations for which it is designed or constructed.

(b) the expression “statutory provisions relating to obligatory lamps or reflectors” means the provisions contained in the Road Transport Lighting Act, 1957(a), or in any regulations made thereunder, with respect to the lamps or reflectors which are thereby required to be carried on vehicles while they are on a road during the hours of darkness, not being provisions which apply to such vehicles only when they are carrying a load overhanging laterally or projecting to the rear or are drawing or being drawn by another vehicle ;

(3) Where a person is charged with a contravention of any provision of this Regulation in respect of the use of a vehicle on a road otherwise than during the hours of darkness, it shall be a defence for that person to prove—

(a) that the contravention arose from a defect in the lighting equipment of, or in a reflector carried by, the vehicle which occurred in the course of the journey during which the contravention occurred, or

(b) that the contravention arose from a defect in the lighting equipment of, or in a reflector carried by, the vehicle, and that before the contravention occurred steps had been taken to have the defect remedied with all reasonable expedition.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations amend the Motor Vehicles (Construction and Use) (Track Laying Vehicles) Regulations, 1955, as amended.

The principal changes are :—

1. The definition of the expression “land locomotive” is extended to include vehicles used for hauling a certain kind of trailer (defined as a “land implement conveyor”) which complies with certain conditions and which is designed for carrying land implements (Regulation 2 (1) (b) and (c)).
2. The expression “land tractor” is re-defined to include tractors used primarily for work on land and which are constructed or adapted to carry certain kinds of load by means of a fitted appliance which satisfies certain specified conditions (Regulation 2 (1) (d)).
3. Certain provisions of the 1955 Regulations applicable to motor tractors are made to apply, and other provisions are made not to apply, to land tractors if, while used on a road, they comply with certain conditions (Regulation 2 (2)).
4. Regulation 10 (which requires the provision of a warning device on motor vehicles fitted with a braking system which embodies a vacuum or pressure reservoir) no longer applies to vehicles the unladen weight of which does not exceed three tons, if certain conditions are fulfilled (Regulation 2 (4)).

5. Every motor vehicle is required to be equipped with such lighting equipment and reflectors, and the equipment and reflectors are required to be maintained at all times while the vehicle is used on a road in such a condition, as to render the vehicle capable of being driven on a road at night without contravention of the provisions of the Road Transport Lighting Act, 1957, or any regulations in force under it, as to obligatory lamps or reflectors. Every head lamp of a motor vehicle is required to be so constructed and fitted, and at all times while the vehicle is used on a road to be maintained in such a condition, that if the lamp were used to show a light to the front while the vehicle was driven on a road at night the provisions of Regulation 9 of the Road Vehicles Lighting Regulations, 1959, which relate to the prevention of dazzle by lamps, would not be contravened. Certain exemptions in relation to these requirements are provided (Regulation 2 (8) and (9)).
