Provided that, in calculating the remuneration to which the worker would be entitled if he had worked for eight hours, overtime rates shall apply only to overtime worked.

- (b) emergency duty (as defined in paragraph 35) shall not be taken into consideration when calculating the hours over which the hours of duty have been spread.

(5) In this paragraph the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say:—

“Seasonal establishment” means a licensed residential establishment at which there is posted up a current certificate signed by a qualified auditor certifying that in his opinion more than 50 per cent. of the annual takings at the establishment in respect of the sale of food and drink (other than intoxicating liquor) and the provision of living accommodation is ordinarily earned during the months of June, July, August and September; and for the purposes of this definition—

PAYMENT FOR EMERGENCY DUTY

15. A worker (other than an extra head waiter, an extra waiter or an extra waitress) who is required to perform emergency duty (as defined in paragraph 35), shall be paid for the time so worked—

- (1) where the worker works for half an hour or less—7½p.
- (2) where the worker works for more than half an hour—15p.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO INTERVALS FOR REST

16. Where an employer does not allow to a worker between the time of finishing duty on any day and the time of commencing the next following turn of duty an interval for rest of—

(1) in the case of a worker who is supplied by his employer with full board and lodging, not less than eight consecutive hours;

(2) in the case of any other worker, not less than nine consecutive hours; the worker shall be paid for all time worked by him which reduces the said interval for rest the minimum remuneration to which he is entitled under the other provisions of this Part of this Schedule with an addition for all such time at the rate of double time (as defined in paragraph 4), provided that the interval for rest shall not be regarded as having been reduced by reason solely of the fact that the worker has performed emergency duty (as defined in paragraph 35).

WORKERS TEMPORARILY TRANSFERRED TO HIGHER GRADE WORK

17. Where a worker is required temporarily to perform the duties of a worker entitled to a higher minimum remuneration than himself for a period of more than—

(1) two hours in a day or seven hours in a week, in the case of a worker who is employed in a licensed residential establishment which contains not more than 35 rooms ordinarily available as sleeping accommodation for guests or lodgers, or

(2) two hours in any week in the case of a worker other than a worker specified in (1) above,

- (a) any worker who is absent by reason of the fact that it is his weekly day of rest;
- (b) for a period not exceeding 12 working days in any 12 months, any worker absent from work with the consent of the employer, but in receipt of not less than the statutory minimum remuneration.

GUARANTEED REMUNERATION

18.—A(1) This paragraph applies to workers who ordinarily work for the employer on work to which this Schedule applies for not less than 32 hours in a week or, in the case of a fortnightly worker (as defined in paragraph 35), for not less than 64 hours in a fortnight.

(2) Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Schedule, where in respect of any week or fortnight as the case may be, the total remuneration, including any holiday remuneration, payable to a worker under those other provisions is less than the guaranteed remuneration provided under this paragraph, the minimum remuneration payable to that worker for that week or fortnight shall be that guaranteed remuneration.

B(1) The guaranteed remuneration payable in respect of any week to a worker to whom sub-paragraph C does not apply—

- (a) who normally works for the employer for not less than 40 hours in a week on work to which this Schedule applies, is the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 for 40 hours' work in his normal occupation;
- (b) who normally works for the employer for more than 39 hours in a week but for less than 40 hours on work to which this Schedule applies, is the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 (calculated as in paragraph 5) in respect of the number of hours normally worked by him in a week;
- (c) who normally works for the employer for 39 hours or less in a week, is the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 (calculated as in paragraph 5) for 39 hours in a week:

Provided that where the worker normally works for the employer on work to which the Schedule applies for less than 39 hours in a week by reason only of the fact that he does not hold himself out as normally available for work for more than the number of hours he normally works in the week, and the worker has informed his employer in writing that he does not so hold himself out, the guaranteed remuneration shall be the remuneration (calculated as in paragraph 5) for the number of hours in the week normally worked by the worker for the employer on work to which this Schedule applies.

(2) Guaranteed remuneration is not payable in respect of any week unless the worker throughout his normal working hours in that week (excluding any time allowed to him as a holiday) is

- (a) capable of and available for work; and
- (b) willing to perform such duties outside his normal occupation as the employer may reasonably require if his normal work is not available in the establishment in which he is employed.

(3) Guaranteed remuneration is not payable in respect of any week if the worker's employment is terminated before the end of that week.

(4) If the employer is unable to provide the worker with work by reason of a strike or other circumstances beyond his control and gives the worker four clear days' notice to that effect, guaranteed remuneration shall not be payable after the expiry of such notice in respect of any week during which, or during part of which, the employer continues to be unable to provide work as aforesaid:

Provided that in respect of the week in which the said notice expires there shall be paid to the worker, in addition to any remuneration payable in respect of time worked in that week, any remuneration that would have been payable if the worker had worked his normal hours of work on any days in the week prior to the expiry of the notice.

C(1) The guaranteed remuneration payable in respect of any fortnight to a fortnightly worker (as defined in paragraph 35)—

- (a) who normally works for the employer for not less than 80 hours in a fortnight on work to which this Schedule applies, is twice the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 for 40 hours' work in his normal occupation;
- (b) who normally works for the employer for more than 78 hours in a fortnight but for less than 80 hours on work to which this Schedule applies, is the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 (calculated as in paragraph 5) in respect of the number of hours normally worked by him in a fortnight;

- (c) who normally works for the employer for 78 hours or less in a fortnight, is the remuneration to which he would be entitled under paragraph 6, 7 or 8 (calculated as in paragraph 5) for 78 hours in a fortnight:

Provided that where the worker normally works for the employer on work to which this Schedule applies for less than 78 hours in a fortnight by reason only of the fact that he does not hold himself out as normally available for work for more than the number of hours he normally works in the fortnight, and the worker has informed his employer in writing that he does not so hold himself out, the guaranteed remuneration shall be the remuneration (calculated as in paragraph 5) for the number of hours in the fortnight normally worked by the worker for the employer on work to which this Schedule applies.

(2) Guaranteed remuneration is not payable in respect of any fortnight unless the worker throughout his normal working hours in that fortnight (excluding any time allowed to him as a holiday) is

- (a) capable of and available for work; and
 (b) willing to perform such duties outside his normal occupation as the employer may reasonably require if his normal work is not available in the establishment in which he is employed.

(3) Guaranteed remuneration is not payable in respect of any fortnight if the worker's employment is terminated before the end of that fortnight.

(4) If the employer is unable to provide the worker with work by reason of a strike or other circumstances beyond his control and gives the worker four clear days' notice to that effect, guaranteed remuneration shall not be payable after the expiry of such notice in respect of any fortnight during which, or during part of which, the employer continues to be unable to provide work as aforesaid:

Provided that in respect of the fortnight in which the said notice expires there shall be paid to the worker, in addition to any remuneration payable in respect of time worked in that fortnight, any remuneration that would have been payable if the worker had worked his normal hours of work on any days in the fortnight prior to the expiry of the notice.

OVERTIME

19. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 20, minimum overtime rates shall be payable to workers, other than extra head waiters, extra waiters and extra waitresses, as follows:—

- (1) in the case of workers other than fortnightly workers:—

Provided that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to emergency duty (as defined in paragraph 35).

(2) Where a worker to whom this paragraph applies is allowed time off pursuant to any agreement as specified in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph he shall be treated for the purposes of the provisions of this Schedule relating to remuneration as though in respect of that time he had been employed by the employer in his usual occupation.

23. For the purposes of paragraphs 21 and 22, where a worker normally works a turn of duty which extends beyond midnight, the whole of the turn of duty worked, or the period which would have been covered by the turn of duty had it been worked, shall be counted as falling on the day upon which it commenced or would have commenced had it been worked.

APPLICATIONS TO VARY THE HOLIDAY SEASON

28. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 24, the Wages Council may vary the holiday season in respect of any establishment if it receives an application for the purpose from an employer and is satisfied that it is reasonable to do so to meet special circumstances. Such variation may provide for the commencement of the holiday season earlier than 1st April or its extension beyond 30th November in the case of a worker employed at a seasonal establishment or 31st October in the case of any other worker. An application relating to the commencement of the holiday season shall be made to the Wages Council not less than six weeks before the operative date and an application to extend the duration of the holiday season before 15th July. Any such alteration in the holiday season shall not become effective until notice of the decision of the Wages Council has been communicated to the employer concerned.

30. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 26, any day of annual holiday under this Schedule may be allowed on a day on which the worker is entitled to a day of holiday or to a half-holiday under any enactment other than the Wages Councils Act 1959.

(2) Where under the provisions of this Schedule an annual holiday is allowed in more than one period the holiday remuneration shall be apportioned accordingly.

32. Where in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 33 or of Order L.R.(48) accrued holiday remuneration has been paid by the employer to the worker in respect of any period of employment in the 12 months immediately preceding the holiday season within which an annual holiday is allowed by the employer to the worker in accordance with the provisions of this Schedule, the amount of holiday remuneration payable by the employer in respect of the said annual holiday under the provisions of paragraph 31 shall be reduced by the amount of the said accrued holiday remuneration, unless that remuneration has been deducted from a previous payment of holiday remuneration made under the provisions of this Schedule or of Order L.R.(48).

ACCRUED HOLIDAY REMUNERATION PAYABLE ON TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT

33. Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, where a worker (other than an extra waiter, extra waitress or extra head waiter) ceases to be employed by an employer after the provisions of this Schedule become effective, the employer shall, immediately on the termination of the employment, pay to the worker as accrued holiday remuneration:—

(1) in respect of employment in the 12 months up to the commencing date of the current holiday season, a sum equal to the holiday remuneration for any days of annual holiday for which he has qualified, except days of annual holiday which he has been allowed or has become entitled to be allowed before leaving the employment; and

(2) in respect of any employment since the commencing date of the current holiday season, or if no holiday season is then current, the commencing date of the last holiday season, a sum equal to the holiday remuneration which would have been payable to him if he could have been allowed an annual holiday in respect of that employment at the time of leaving it:
Provided that—

(a) the amount of the accrued holiday remuneration payable to a worker who leaves his employment without the consent of his employer before giving one week's notice of termination of employment or before one week has elapsed from the time of giving such notice, shall be the amount payable under the foregoing provisions of this Schedule less an amount equal to the holiday remuneration which would be payable to him if at the termination of his employment he had been allowed an annual holiday of an equivalent number of days as constituted his normal working week;

(b) accrued holiday remuneration shall not be payable where a worker is dismissed on the ground either of dishonesty or of misconduct involving contravention of the licensing laws and is so informed by the employer at the time of dismissal;

(c) where, during the period or periods in respect of which the said accrued holiday remuneration is payable, the worker has been allowed any day or days of holiday for which he had not qualified under the provisions of this Schedule or of Order L.R. (48), any accrued holiday remuneration payable as aforesaid shall be reduced by the amount of any sum paid by the employer to the worker in respect of such day or days of holiday.

CALCULATION OF EMPLOYMENT

34. For the purpose of calculating any period of employment qualifying a worker for an annual holiday or for any accrued holiday remuneration under this Schedule the worker shall be treated as having been employed—
