SCHEDULE

The PREVENTION OF OIL POLLUTION ACT 1971

General provisions for preventing oil pollution

Discharge of certain oils into sea outside territorial waters.

1.—(1) If any oil to which this section applies or any mixture containing such oil is discharged from a ship registered in Bermuda into any part of the sea outside the territorial waters of Bermuda, the owner or master of the ship shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be guilty of an offence.

(2) This section applies—

(a) to crude oil, fuel oil and lubricating oil; and

(b) to heavy diesel oil, as defined by regulations made under this section by the Minister;

and shall also apply to any other description of oil which may be specified by regulations made by the Minister, having regard to the provisions of any Convention accepted by Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom in so far as it relates to the prevention of pollution of the sea by oil, or having regard to the persistent character of oil of that description and the likelihood that it would cause pollution if discharged from a ship into any part of the sea outside the territorial waters of Bermuda.

(3) Regulations made by the Minister may make exceptions from the operation of subsection (1) of this section, either generally or with respect to particular classes of ships, particular descriptions of oil or mixtures containing oil or the discharge of oil or mixtures in particular circumstances or into particular areas of the sea, and may do so either absolutely or subject to any specified conditions.

(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $100,000 or on conviction on indictment to a fine.

Discharge of oil into Bermudian waters.

2.—(1) If any oil or mixture containing oil is discharged as mentioned in the following paragraphs into waters to which this section applies, then, subject to the provisions of this Act, the following shall be guilty of an offence, that is to say—

(a) if the discharge is from a vessel, the owner or master of the vessel, unless he proves that the discharge took place and was caused as mentioned in paragraph (b) of this subsection;

(b) if the discharge is from a vessel but takes place in the course of a transfer of oil to or from another vessel or a place on land and is caused by the act or omission of any person in charge of any apparatus in that other vessel or that place, the owner or master of that other vessel or, as the case may be, the occupier of that place;

(c) if the discharge is from a place on land, the occupier of that place, unless he proves that the discharge was caused as mentioned in paragraph (d) of this subsection;

(d) if the discharge is from a place on land and is caused by the act of a person who is in that place without the permission (express or implied) of the occupier, that person;

(e) if the discharge takes place otherwise than as mentioned in the preceding paragraphs and is the result of any operations for the exploration of the sea-bed and sub-soil or the exploitation of their natural resources, the person carrying on the operations.

- (2) This section applies to the following waters, that is to say,—
- (a) the whole of the sea within the seaward limits of the territorial waters of Bermuda; and
 - (b) all other waters (including inland waters) which are within those limits and are navigable by sea-going ships.

(3) In this Act “place on land” includes anything resting on the bed or shore of the sea, or of any other waters to which this section applies, and also includes anything afloat (other than a vessel) if it is anchored or attached to the bed or shore of the sea or of any such waters; and “occupier”, in relation to any such thing as is mentioned in the preceding provisions of this subsection, if it has no occupier, means the owner thereof, and, in relation to a railway wagon or road vehicle, means the person in charge of the wagon or vehicle and not the occupier of the land on which the wagon or vehicle stands.

(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $100,000 or on conviction on indictment to a fine.

4.—(1) For the purpose of preventing or reducing discharges of oil and mixtures containing oil into the sea, the Minister may make regulations requiring ships registered in Bermuda to be fitted with such equipment and to comply with such other requirements as may be specified in the regulations. (2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1) of this section, where any regulations made thereunder require ships to be fitted with equipment of a specified description, the regulations may provide that equipment of that description—

- (a) shall not be installed in a ship to which the regulations apply unless it is of a type tested and approved by a person appointed by the Minister;
- (b) while installed in such a ship, shall not be treated as satisfying the requirements of the regulations unless, at such times as may be specified in the regulations, it is submitted for testing and approval by a person so appointed.

(3) The Minister may appoint persons to carry out tests for the purposes of any regulations made under this section, and, in respect of the carrying out of such tests, may charge such fees as may be prescribed by the regulations.

(4) Every surveyor of ships shall be taken to be a person appointed by the Minister to carry out tests for the purposes of any regulations made under this section, in so far as they relate to tests required in accordance with paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section.

(5) If, in the case of any ship, the provisions of any regulations made under this section which apply to that ship are contravened, the owner or master of the ship shall be guilty of an offence.

(6) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or on conviction on indictment to a fine.

Defences of owner or master charged with offence under s. 1 or s. 2.

5.—(1) Where a person is charged with an offence under section 1 of this Act, or is charged with an offence under section 2 of this Act as the owner or master of a vessel, it shall be a defence to prove that the oil or mixture was discharged for the purpose of securing the safety of any vessel, or of preventing damage to any vessel or cargo, or of saving life, unless the court is satisfied that the discharge of the oil or mixture was not necessary for that purpose or was not a reasonable step to take in the circumstances.

(2) Where a person is charged as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, it shall also be a defence to prove—

- (a) that the oil or mixture escaped in consequence of damage to the vessel, and that as soon as practicable after the damage occurred all reasonable steps were taken for preventing, or (if it could not be prevented) for stopping or reducing, the escape of the oil or mixture, or
- (b) that the oil or mixture escaped by reason of leakage, that neither the leakage nor any delay in discovering it was due to any want of reasonable care, and that as soon as practicable after the escape was discovered all reasonable steps were taken for stopping or reducing it.

Defences of other persons charged with offences under s. 2.

6.—(1) Where a person is charged, in respect of the escape of any oil or mixture containing oil, with an offence under section 2 of this Act—

- (a) as the occupier of a place on land; or
- (b) as a person carrying on operations for the exploration of the sea-bed and subsoil or the exploitation of their natural resources, it shall be a defence to prove that neither the escape nor any delay in discovering it was due to any want of reasonable care and that as soon as practicable after it was discovered all reasonable steps were taken for stopping or reducing it.

(2) Where a person is charged with an offence under section 2 of this Act in respect of the discharge of a mixture containing oil from a place on land, it shall also, subject to subsection (3) of this section, be a defence to prove—

- (a) that the oil was contained in an effluent produced by operations for the refining of oil;
- (b) that it was not reasonably practicable to dispose of the effluent otherwise than by discharging it into waters to which that section applies; and
- (c) that all reasonably practicable steps had been taken for eliminating oil from the effluent.

(3) If it is proved that, at a time to which the charge relates, the surface of the waters into which the mixture was discharged from the place on land, or land adjacent to those waters, was fouled by oil, subsection (2) of this section shall not apply unless the court is satisfied that the fouling was not caused, or contributed to, by oil contained in any effluent discharged at or before that time from that place.

9.—(1) The powers exercisable by the Minister in respect of any harbour in Bermuda shall include power to provide facilities for enabling vessels using the harbour to discharge or deposit oil residues (in this Act referred to as “oil reception facilities”).

(5) Where in the case of any harbour in Bermuda it appears to the Minister, after consultation with any organisation appearing to the Minister to be representative of owners of ships registered in Bermuda,—

- (a) if the harbour has oil reception facilities, that those facilities are inadequate, or
- (b) if the harbour has not such facilities, that the harbour has need of such facilities, the Minister may provide, or arrange for the provision of, such oil reception facilities.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (4) of this section, the Minister, or a person providing such facilities by arrangement with the Minister, shall not be obliged to make those facilities available for use by tankers, or for the reception of oil residues discharged for the purpose of enabling a vessel to undergo repairs; and the requirements of tankers, and the reception of oil residues so discharged, shall be disregarded by the Minister in exercising his powers under subsection (5) of this section.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring the Minister to allow untreated ballast water (that is to say, ballast water which contains oil and has not been subjected to an effective process for separating the oil from the water) to be discharged into any oil reception facilities provided by, or by arrangement with, him; and the Minister shall exercise his powers under subsection (5) of this section accordingly.

(9) Subsections (1), (2) and (5) of this section shall have effect in relation to arrangements for disposing of oil residues discharged or deposited by vessels using a harbour’s oil reception facilities, and to the making of such arrangements, as those subsections have effect in relation to oil reception facilities and the provision of such facilities.

(2) A report made under subsection (1) of this section by the owner or master of a vessel shall state whether the occurrence falls within paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of that subsection.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order.)

This Order extends to Bermuda, with the necessary exceptions and modifications, the Prevention of Oil Pollution Act 1971. The extension of the Act to Bermuda enables effect to be given in Bermuda to the International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution of the Sea by Oil 1954, (Cmnd. 9197), as amended in 1962 (Cmnd. 3354) and in 1969 (Cmnd. 7094). It also enables the Government of Bermuda to take measures to prevent, mitigate or eliminate grave and imminent danger to the coastline or related interests from pollution or threat of pollution of the sea by oil, following upon a maritime casualty. Such measures may include those taken in accordance with the International Convention relating to Intervention on the High Seas in Cases of Oil Pollution Casualties, opened for signature in Brussels on 29th November 1969 (Cmnd. 4403).
