EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order.)

This Order amends the Medicines (General Sale List) Order 1980 which specifies descriptions and classes of medicinal products, including veterinary drugs, which may be sold or supplied by retail otherwise than by or under the supervision of a pharmacist (the general sale list), and medicinal products which may be sold by means of automatic machines (the automatic machines section of the general sale list).

The amendments made by this Order:—

- (a) remove from the general sale list eye drops and eye ointments for human use which, although medicinal products, perform a cosmetic function (making their status the same as other eye drops and eye ointments);
- (b) add certain medicinal products for human use and veterinary drugs to the general sale list; and
- (c) add certain medicinal products for human use to the automatic machines section of the general sale list.

Products added by this Order include, in addition to new products, new formulations of existing products and existing products now sold under a new or alternative name.
