SCHEDULE 3

Regulation 3(1)

MODIFICATIONS OF ENACTMENTS

London Building Acts (Amendment) Act 1939

1. Section 4(1) of the London Building Acts (Amendment) Act 1939 (c) (interpretation) shall have effect as if immediately before the definition of "noxious business" there were inserted the following definition—

“ ‘ notice is given or plans are deposited’ means a building notice is given or full plans are deposited under regulation 11 of the Building Regulations 1985 or an initial notice or a public body’s notice is given under sections 47(1) or 54(1) of the Building Act 1984;”.

(a) S.I. 1985/1576.

(b) 1984 c.xxvii.

(c) 1984 c.xxvii.

2. Section 20 of that Act (precautions against fire in certain buildings and cubical extent of buildings) shall have effect as if for subsections (1) and (2) there were substituted the following subsections—

“(1) This section applies where—

- (a) a building is to be erected with a storey or part of a storey at a greater height than—
 - (i) 30 metres; or
 - (ii) 25 metres if the area of the building exceeds 930 square metres;
- (b) a building of the warehouse class, or a building or part of a building used for the purposes of trade or manufacture, exceeds 7,100 cubic metres in extent unless it is divided by division walls in such manner that no division of the building is of a cubical extent exceeding 7,100 cubic metres.

(2) A wall is a division wall for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section if—

- (a) it extends from its foundations to form a complete separation in one vertical plane between the divisions of the building or the parts of the building; and
- (b) it has a fire resistance of not less than four hours; and
- (c) any openings in the wall comply with the requirements of subsections (4A) and (4B) of section 21 of this Act; and
- (d) where the difference in height of any roofs which adjoin the wall is less than 375 millimetres either—
 - (i) the wall extends to a height above the roof of the highest building or part of the building which adjoins the wall of not less than 375 millimetres measured at right angles to the upper surface of that roof; or
 - (ii) any part of the roof within 1.5 metres of the wall is constructed so that—
 - (1) it is designated for purposes of resisting fire penetration and spread not less than the standard AA in British Standard 476: Part 3: 1958 published by the British Standards Institution;
 - (2) its deck is of solid or hollow slab construction of non-combustible materials not less than 100 millimetres in thickness; and
 - (3) The junction between it and the wall is fire-stopped by means of a seal of non-combustible materials provided to close any imperfection of fit so as to restrict penetration of smoke and flame.

(2A) Subject to sub-section (2B) of this section, the Council may impose conditions for the provision and maintenance of—

- (a) fire alarms;
- (b) automatic fire detection systems;
- (c) fire extinguishing appliances and installations;
- (d) effective means of removing smoke in case of fire;
- (e) adequate means of access to the interior, exterior and site of the building for fire brigade personnel and appliances.

(2B) Paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (2A) of this section shall not apply to any building to which this section applies in respect of which a fire certificate issued by the Health and Safety Executive is for the time being required under the Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974 (a) .

(2C) The Council may impose additional conditions in respect of any special fire risk area for—

- (a) restricting the use of any such area in the building;
- (b) the provision and maintenance of proper arrangements for lessening so far as is reasonably practicable danger from fire in the building.

(2D) For the purposes of subsection (2C) of this section a “special fire risk area” includes an area—

- (a) where any of the following apparatus is installed—
 - (i) a heat producing appliance designed to produce in excess of 220 kilowatts of heat; or
 - (ii) a fixed internal combustion engine (including a gas turbine engine) designed to produce in excess of 44 kilowatts of power; or
 - (iii) electrical oil-cooled transformers or oil-filled switchgear each with an oil capacity in excess of 250 litres operating at a supply voltage in excess of 1,000 volts;
- (b) where any flammable or combustible solid, liquid or gaseous substances are manufactured, treated, handled or stored in quantities likely to constitute a fire hazard including—
 - (i) fuel oil, diesel oil or petroleum spirit;
 - (ii) nitrate film or celluloid;
- (c) where a cellulose or other flammable liquid spraying room is located; or
- (d) where any storey of a garage, vehicle park, loading bay or loading dock is located—
 - (i) in a basement; or
 - (ii) at ground level or above and is not adequately ventilated.

For the purposes of this paragraph a “basement” means a storey of which the floor is at any point more than 1.2 metres below the finished surface of the ground adjacent to it.

(2E) For the purposes of subsection (2D)(d) of this section, a storey is “adequately ventilated” if and only if—

- (a) it contains openings or ducts in its external enclosures which afford permanent ventilation from the external air; and
- (b) the openings or ducts are arranged on opposing faces so as to provide adequate cross ventilation to all parts; and
- (c) the unobstructed area of the openings or ducts is in total not less than five per cent. of the floor area of that storey of the garage, vehicle park, loading bay or loading dock.

(2F) The owner or occupier of a building to which this section applies shall, before or at the same time as any notice is given or plans are deposited in respect of the building, deposit at the County Hall two copies of plans of the building in accordance with regulations made by the Council.

(a) 1974 c.37.

(2G) The Council shall impose any conditions which it may impose under this section within five weeks from the date on which plans are deposited in respect of the building in accordance with this section or within such extended period as may before the expiration of the five weeks be agreed in writing between the person who deposited the plans and the Council.”.

3. Section 21 of that Act (uniting of buildings) shall have effect as if—
 (a) in subsection (2) the words “and any byelaws made in pursuance of those Acts” were omitted;

(b) for subsection (4) there were substituted the following subsections—

“(4) Subject to the following provisions of this section where an opening is to be made in—

- (a) any division wall; or
- (b) any party wall; or
- (c) two external walls,

separating divisions of a building of the warehouse class or a building used for the purposes of trade or manufacture or separating such buildings and such divisions or buildings (as the case may be) if taken together would extend to more than 7,100 cubic metres, the Council may impose conditions under section 20 of this Act.

(4A) Subsection (4) of this section shall not apply if the condition in subsection (4B) of this section is satisfied and if—

- (a) the opening conforms with regulations made by the Council for the purposes of this section; or
- (b) the opening is protected from fire by doors or shutters which have a fire resistance of not less than four hours or such lesser period as the Council may specify; or
- (c) the opening satisfies the following conditions—
 - (i) its floor jambs and head are formed of brick, stone, iron or other incombustible materials;
 - (ii) it is closed by two wrought iron or mild steel doors, sliding doors or shutters each not less than 6 millimetres thick in the panel;
 - (iii) all such doors or shutters are located at a distance from each other of the full thickness of the wall, are fitted to grooved or rebated iron frames without woodwork of any kind and are fitted with sufficient and proper bolts or other fastenings which are capable of being opened from either side;
 - (iv) all such doors or shutters have on each face styles and rails at least 100 millimetres wide and 6 millimetres thick and are constructed, fitted and maintained in an efficient condition;
 - (v) it does not exceed 2.134 metres in width or 2.438 metres in height (or 2.896 metres in height in a wall of which the thickness is not less than 600 millimetres or where the doors, sliding doors or shutters closing the opening are placed at a distance of not less than 600 millimetres from each other).

(4B) The condition mentioned in subsection (4A) of this section is that the width of any opening in any wall of a storey (or if there is more than one such opening in any such wall the widths of all such openings taken together) shall not exceed one-half of the length of the wall.”; and

(c) in subsection (5) for the words “or any byelaws made in pursuance of those Acts” there were substituted the words “or the Building Regulations 1985.”.

4. Part IV of that Act (special and temporary buildings and structures) shall have effect as if for section 29 of that Act (application of Part IV) there were substituted the following section—

“29. The provisions of this Part of this Act shall apply to any structure or to any building other than a building—

- (a) to which the Building Regulations 1985 apply; or
- (b) which falls within Schedule 3 to the Building Regulations 1985 (exempt buildings and works); or
- (c) to which section 4 of the Building Act 1984 (exemption of educational buildings and buildings of statutory undertakers) applies.”.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations.)

These regulations bring into force for inner London—

- (1) The sections of the Building Act 1984 specified in regulation 2(3);
- (2) The Building Regulations 1985;
- (3) The Building (Approved Inspectors etc.) Regulations 1985; and
- (4) The Building (Prescribed Fees etc.) Regulations 1985.

Minor amendments, mainly concerning drainage, are made to those Regulations which already apply to the rest of England and Wales (regulation 2(2) and Schedule 2). Certain sections of the London Building Acts 1930 to 1939 and other Acts are modified or repealed and certain Greater London Council byelaws are revoked (regulation 3 and Schedules 3 and 4).

'Inner London' means the area comprising the inner London boroughs, the City of London, the Inner Temple and the Middle Temple.

The existing building control procedures in inner London will continue to apply to buildings, structures or works which are not completed when the regulations come into force provided specified steps have already been taken (regulation 4).
