INMATES

General

Aims and general principles of young offender institutions

3.—(1) The aim of a young offender institution shall be to help offenders to prepare for their return to the outside community.

(2) The aim mentioned in paragraph (1) above shall be achieved, in particular, by –

- (a) providing a programme of activities, including education, training and work designed to assist offenders to acquire or develop personal responsibility, self-discipline, physical fitness, interests and skills and to obtain suitable employment after release;
- (b) fostering links between the offender and the outside community;
- (c) co-operating with the services responsible for the offender’s supervision after release.

Classification of inmates

4. Inmates may be classified, in accordance with any directions of the Secretary of State, taking into account their ages, characters and circumstances.

Release

Remission of sentence

5.—(1) An inmate serving a sentence of detention in a young offender institution for an actual term of more than 5 days may, on the ground of his industry and good conduct, be granted remission not exceeding, in the case of a sentence for a term of more than 12 months, one-third of the total of the actual term and any period taken into account under section 67 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967⁽³⁾ (which relates to the computation of custodial sentences) and, in the case of a sentence for a term not exceeding 12 months, one-half of that total:

Provided that this rule shall not permit the reduction of the actual term to less than 5 days, or in the case of an inmate who has been released on licence and recalled, permit his release before the thirtieth day following his return to a young offender institution on recall.

(2) For the purposes of this rule–

(3) 1967 c. 80; section 67 was amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1972 (c. 71), Schedule 5, the Powers of Criminal Courts Act 1973 (c. 62), Schedule 5 and the Criminal Justice Act 1982, sections 10 and 34, Schedule 14, paragraph 22 and Schedule 16.

- (a) an inmate committed to be detained under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 for default in payment of a fine or any other sum of money, or for contempt of court or any kindred offence, shall be treated as serving a sentence of detention in a young offender institution;
 - (b) a woman aged 21 years or over who is serving a sentence of imprisonment (other than a sentence of imprisonment for life) or who has been committed to prison for default in payment of a sum of money and is detained in a young offender institution instead of a prison shall be treated as serving a sentence of detention in a young offender institution; and
 - (c) consecutive terms of detention in a young offender institution shall be treated as one term.
- (3) In the case of a woman aged 21 years or over in respect of whom a sentence of imprisonment for an offence has been passed with an order under subsection (1) of section 47 of the Criminal Law Act 1977(4) (partly suspended sentences):—
- (a) if she has not been released from an institution to which the Prison Act 1952(5) applies since the sentence for the offence was passed, she shall be treated for the purposes of this rule as if her only sentence for that offence were any portion of it that she is required to serve in prison under subsection (1) or (3) of the said section 47; and
 - (b) if she has been released from such an institution but part of her sentence for the offence has subsequently been restored under subsection (3) of that section, she shall be treated for the purposes of this rule as if her only sentence for that offence were the part of the sentence so restored.
- (4) This rule shall have effect subject to any disciplinary award of forfeiture of remission.
- (5) In the case of an inmate who is received into a young offender institution from another institution (other than a young offender institution) to which the Prison Act 1952 applies and who, immediately before his reception, was subject to a disciplinary award of forfeiture of remission imposed, or having effect as if imposed, under rules made under section 47 of that Act in relation to that other institution, the award shall have effect for the purposes of this rule as if it had been imposed under these Rules.
- (6) In this rule—
- (a) “actual term” means the term of a sentence of detention in a young offender institution as reduced by section 67 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967;
 - (b) a reference to a person being recalled shall include a reference to the revocation of a licence by a court.

(2) A cell or room shall not be used for the purpose of this rule unless it has been certified by an officer of the Secretary of State (not being an officer of a young offender institution) that it is suitable for the purpose, that its size, lighting, heating, ventilation and fittings are adequate for health, and that it allows the inmate to communicate at any time with an officer.

(3) In relation to any young offender institution, section 14(6) of the Prison Act 1952 shall have effect so as to enable the provision of special rooms instead of special cells for the temporary confinement of refractory or violent inmates.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Rules)

These Rules make provision for the management of young offender institutions provided under section 43 of the Prison Act 1952 as amended by section 11 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 and Schedules 8 and 15 to the Criminal Justice Act 1988 which comes into force on 1st October 1988 (S.I. 1988/1408). They replace the Detention Centre Rules 1983 (S.I. 1983/569) and the Youth Custody Rules 1983 (S.I. 1983/570), as amended. They include provision for the treatment, occupation, discipline and control of inmates who may be detained therein, the conduct of officers of young offender institutions and the constitution, powers and duties of boards of visitors.

Rule 3 contains the aims and general principles of young offender institutions and rules 34 to 40 contain more detailed provisions regulating the regime. The provisions of the Rules are generally similar in substance to those of the Youth Custody Rules 1983, with some modifications to take account of the fact that the new sentence replaces both the detention centre order and the youth custody sentence. rule 43 provides that an inmate may not be stripped and searched either in the sight of another inmate or in the sight or presence of an officer not of the same sex.
