

SCHEDULE

Modifications etc. (not altering text)

- C1 Part 1 of the Schedule was revoked (4.9.95) by s. 18(8) of the Child Support Act 1995 (c. 34), but is continued to be reproduced as it remains in force in some circumstances

PHASED TAKE-ON OF CASES

- F1 Part 1 of Sch. substituted (31.3.93) by S.I. 1993/966, art. 2(1)

1.—(1) In this Part of this Schedule—

“The Act” means the Child Support Act 1991;

“benefit” means income support, family credit or disability working allowance under Part VII of the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992, or any other benefit prescribed under section 6(1) of the Act (applications by parents receiving benefit);

“parent with care” means a person who, in respect of the same child or children, is both a parent and a person with care; and “transitional period” means the period beginning with 5th April 1993 and ending with 6th April 1997.

(2) For the purposes of paragraph 5 below, in England and Wales, an application for a maintenance order is pending before a court if—

- (i) notice of the application has been filed, in accordance with rules of court, before 5th April 1993;
- (ii) in the case of an application contained in a petition for divorce, nullity or judicial separation, or the answer to it, notice of intention to proceed with it was given, in the form required by rules of court, before 5th April 1993.

2. Subject to paragraph 4 below, during the transitional period no application under section 4 of the Act (applications for child support maintenance) in relation to a qualifying child or any qualifying children may be made at any time when—

- (a) there is in force a maintenance order or written maintenance agreement (being an agreement made before 5th April 1993) in respect of that qualifying child or those qualifying children and the absent parent; or
- (b) benefit is being paid to a parent with care of that child or those children.

3. Subject to paragraph 4 below, during the transitional period no application under section 7 of the Act (right of child in Scotland to apply for assessment) may be made by a qualifying child at any time when there is in force a maintenance order or written maintenance agreement (being an agreement made before 5th April 1993) in respect of that child and the absent parent.

4. Paragraphs 2 and 3 above do not apply to an application made—

- (a) in that part of the transitional period beginning with 8th April 1996, if the surname of the person with care begins with any of the letters A to D inclusive;

Changes to legislation: The Child Support Act 1991 (Commencement No.3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 1992, PART I is up to date with all changes known to be in force on or before 15 December 2023. There are changes that may be brought into force at a future date. Changes that have been made appear in the content and are referenced with annotations. (See end of Document for details) View outstanding changes

- (b) in that part of the transitional period beginning with 1st July 1996, if the surname of the person with care begins with any of the letters E to K inclusive;
- (c) in that part of the transitional period beginning with 7th October 1996, if the surname of the person with care begins with any of the letters L to R inclusive; and
- (d) in that part of the transitional period beginning with 6th January 1997, if the surname of the person with care begins with any of the letters S to Z inclusive.

5.—(1) For so long as either—

- (a) paragraph 2 or 3 above operates in a case so as to prevent an application being made under section 4 of the Act or, as the case may be, section 7 of the Act, and no application has been made under section 6 of the Act; or
- (b) an application has been made under section 6 of the Act but no maintenance assessment has yet been made pursuant to that application, then in relation to that case—

- (i) section 8(3) of the Act (role of the courts with respect to maintenance orders) shall be modified so as to have effect as if the word “vary” were omitted;
- (ii) in a case falling within sub-paragraph (a) above, section 9(3) of the Act shall not apply; and
- (iii) section 9(5) of the Act shall be modified so as to have effect as if paragraph (b) were omitted.

(2) In a case where there is, at any time during the transitional period, pending before a court an application for a maintenance order or an application for an order varying a written maintenance agreement, section 8(3) or, as the case may be, section 9(5)(b) of the Act, shall not apply in relation to that case.]

Changes to legislation:

The Child Support Act 1991 (Commencement No.3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 1992, PART I is up to date with all changes known to be in force on or before 15 December 2023.

There are changes that may be brought into force at a future date. Changes that have been made appear in the content and are referenced with annotations.
