PART IV

EMPLOYER REQUIREMENTS

Exemptions from employer access and consultation requirements

22.—(1) An employer need not comply with the requirements set out in section 3 (duty of employers to facilitate access to stakeholder pension schemes) and this Part of these Regulations if he has fewer than 5 employees.

(2) An employer need not comply with the requirements set out in section 3 and this Part of these Regulations if—

(a) it is a term of the contract of every relevant employee (other than any employee who has not attained the age of 18) that—

(i) the employer will make contributions to a personal pension scheme in respect of the employee, in accordance with paragraph (3) and subject to paragraph (4), for any period for which that employee, while in his employment, is a member of that scheme; and

(ii) the employer will, if he is requested to do so by the employee, deduct the employee's contributions to that scheme from his remuneration and pay them to the trustees or manager of the scheme; and

(b) subject to paragraph (7), no charge or penalty is imposed by the personal pension scheme in question on any member in respect of whom the employer has made any contributions to the scheme for transferring all or any of his funds out of that scheme or for ceasing to contribute to the scheme.

(3) Contributions are made in accordance with this paragraph if they are made on each occasion on which the employee is paid remuneration by the employer (or, if the employer and employee agree longer intervals, at such longer intervals as are agreed) and at a rate of at least 3 per cent. of the amount of remuneration paid.

(4) Contributions made by the employer in accordance with paragraph (3) may be conditional on the employee making contributions to the same scheme at a specified rate on each occasion on which he is paid (or, if the employer and employee agree longer intervals, at such longer intervals as are agreed) while—

(a) if the arrangement is in place as at 8th October 2001, the employer is making contributions equal to or exceeding that of the employee; and

(b) if the condition is first imposed on or after 8th October 2001 or if sub-paragraph (a) ceases to apply after that date, the employee is not required to make contributions exceeding 3 per cent. of the amount of remuneration paid to him on any such occasion or for each such interval.

(5) For the purposes of paragraphs (3) and (4) only payments made in respect of basic pay shall be taken into account and payments in respect of bonuses, commission, overtime or similar payments shall be disregarded.

- (b) market value adjustments which occur in relation to a with-profits fund, shall not be taken to be charges or penalties for transferring those funds or for ceasing to contribute to that scheme.

(8) An employer need not comply with the requirements set out in section 3 and this Part of these Regulations if the employer can provide written evidence to show that contributions are being made, and have continuously been made from a date prior to 8th October 2001, as if each relevant employee had a term in his contract that would satisfy the requirements set out in paragraph (2)(a) above.

(9) An employer need not comply with the requirements set out in section 3 and this Part of these Regulations to the extent that it is not practicable for him to do so because—

- (a) on section 3 first applying to him (unless, subject to sub-paragraph (b), that section first applied to him on 8th October 2001), he has not had sufficient time to select a scheme which he wishes to designate for the purposes of that section and to complete the designation process, provided that the exemption under this sub-paragraph shall not apply for more than 3 months from the date on which that section first applies,
- (b) on employing a fifth employee in the period from 8th July 2001 to 8th October 2001 after a period when he had fewer than 5 employees, he has not had sufficient time to select a scheme which he wishes to designate and to complete the designation process, provided that the exemption under this sub-paragraph shall not apply for more than 3 months from the date on which he employed that fifth employee,
- (c) on section 3 applying to him after a period when it did not so apply, he has not had sufficient time to select a scheme which he wishes to designate and to complete the designation process, provided that the exemption under this sub-paragraph shall not apply for more than 3 months from the date on which that section begins to apply after such a period, or
- (d) on having withdrawn his designation of a scheme due to reasons beyond his control he has not had sufficient time to select another scheme which he wishes to designate and to complete the designation process, provided that the exemption under this sub-paragraph shall not apply for more than 4 months from the withdrawal of designation.

(10) Where a stakeholder pension scheme commences winding-up, the employer need not comply with the consultation requirements in section 3(2) if, within 4 months of the scheme commencing to wind up, he designates for the purposes of that section the stakeholder pension scheme named in the notice mentioned in regulation 6(2) as the scheme of the trustees' or manager's choice.

Definition of relevant employees

23.—(1) The following persons shall not be an employer's relevant employee for the purposes of section 3—

- (a) any employee whose employment would qualify him for membership of an occupational pension scheme of the employer had he been employed by that employer for more than 12 months;
- (b) any employee whose employment would qualify him for membership of an occupational pension scheme of the employer if he were over the age of 18, or was more than 5 years younger than the age which would be his normal pension age were he a member of the scheme;
- (c) any employee who—
 - (i) had he wished to join an occupational pension scheme of the employer at some time in the past, would have qualified for membership of the scheme; and

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(b) “normal pension age” means the earliest age at which the employee in question would, if he were a member of the scheme in question, be entitled to receive benefits (other than a guaranteed minimum pension) on retirement from employment to which the scheme applies, disregarding any rule of the scheme which makes special provision as to early retirement on grounds of ill-health or otherwise.

Payroll deduction of contributions

24.—(1) Subject to paragraph (2), where an employee requests an employer to make or vary (but not cease) deductions of the employee’s contributions to a qualifying scheme from his remuneration (“the request”), the employer must comply with the request as soon as possible, but no later than the end of the pay period following that in which the request is made.

(2) Where an employee makes the request within 6 months of requesting the same employer to make, vary or cease deductions of the employee’s contributions to a qualifying scheme from the employee’s remuneration, the employer need not comply with the request but, where he does not do so, he must give notice to the employee in writing—

- (a) that he is not complying with the request;
- (b) informing him of the date (which must be no later than 6 months after the date of the employee’s previous request to make, vary or cease such deductions) that the employee can make a new request to make or vary deductions of the employee’s contributions; and
- (c) informing him that—
 - (i) he may require the employer to cease such deductions immediately (if deductions are being made at the time of the request) but, if the employee makes such a request, the employer is not required to comply with any further request to make such deductions if that further request is made within 6 months of the employee requesting that the deductions cease; and
 - (ii) the employee may make payments, at a rate of his choosing, directly to the qualifying scheme.

(3) Where an employee requests an employer to cease to make deductions from the employee’s remuneration on account of contributions to a qualifying scheme, the employer must cease such deductions as soon as possible, but no later than the end of the pay period following that in which the request is made, and must give notice to the employee in writing—

- (a) that the employer is not obliged to make any further such deductions if a request to make those deductions is made by the employee within 6 months of the employee requesting that deductions cease; and
- (b) that the employee may make payments, at a rate of his choosing, directly to the qualifying scheme.

(4) If an employer ceases on an employee’s request to make deductions from the employee’s remuneration of contributions to a qualifying scheme, the employer need not comply with any further request to make such deductions if that request is made within 6 months from the date when the employee requested the employer to cease deductions.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations are made principally under sections 1 to 8 of the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 (“the Act”), and other provisions listed in Schedule 1 to the Regulations, to make provision in connection with stakeholder pension schemes introduced by Part I of that Act. Apart from Part IV (which provides for the obligations of employers), the Regulations come into force on 1st October 2000.

Part I of the Regulations is concerned with citation, commencement and interpretation, and Part II with the conditions applying to stakeholder pension schemes. Regulation 2 provides for the establishment as a stakeholder pension scheme of a pension scheme which is not established under a trust. Regulations 3, 4 and 5 specify the requirements with which the instruments establishing a stakeholder pension scheme must comply, especially as respects their provision about membership of the scheme, its assets and the transfer of members' rights on winding-up. Regulation 3 applies in the case of all such schemes, regulation 4 in the case of schemes established under a trust, and regulation 5 in the case of schemes not established under a trust. Regulations 6 and 7 are concerned with the manner in which the rights of members under a stakeholder pension scheme are to be discharged when the scheme winds up.

Regulations 8 to 12, 15, 16, 18 and 19 provide for the requirements which must be complied with by a pension scheme as a condition of its being a stakeholder pension scheme, and are concerned in particular with such matters as the investment of funds, (regulations 8–10 and 15), reporting obligations, including declarations to be made by trustees and managers, and statements by auditors and accountants, in connection with the scheme (regulations 11 and 12), the provision by schemes of services apart from the management of funds (regulation 16), the provision of information to members (regulation 18) and the obligations of trustees (regulation 19).

Regulations 13 and 14 provide for the circumstances in which payments and credits to the scheme, returns on investments and members' rights under the scheme may be used for purposes other than the provision of benefits for members, and in particular for defraying administrative expenses, charges, etc. Regulation 17 makes provision for the minimum level of contributions to stakeholder pension schemes and the circumstances in which trustees or managers may refuse contributions.

Part III of the Regulations is concerned with the registration of stakeholder pension schemes, especially as respects the persons who may apply for registration of schemes not established under trusts, and access to the register (regulations 20 and 21).

Part IV of the Regulations, which comes into force on 8th October 2001, makes provision in connection with the duty of employers to facilitate access to stakeholder pension schemes, and in particular for the circumstances in which employers are exempt from those requirements (regulation 22), for the deduction of contributions to such schemes from employees' remuneration (regulation 24) and for the disclosure of information to employees about such schemes (regulation 25).

Part V of the Regulations makes textual amendments in Regulations made under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 and the Pensions Act 1995 in consequence of the introduction of stakeholder pension schemes, and applies to those schemes which are not occupational pension schemes the provisions of Regulations specified in Schedule 2 as if they were occupational pension schemes.

An assessment of the cost to business of the introduction of stakeholder pension schemes under Part I of the Act and these Regulations is detailed in a Regulatory Impact Assessment, a copy of which has been placed in the libraries of both Houses of Parliament. Copies of the Assessment are available from the Department of Social Security, Regulatory Impact Unit, Third Floor, The Adelphi, 1–11 John Adam Street, London WC2N 6HT.
