5.6. Where it appears to the Chairman before the commencement of the inquiry that a notice of inquiry should be amended, he shall direct that the notice be amended, unless it appears to him that the required amendment cannot be made without injustice. The Clerk shall serve the amended notice of inquiry on the respondent and if the Chairman considers that the circumstances require it, the inquiry shall be postponed or adjourned in accordance with Rule 22.

PART III

Procedure at Disciplinary Inquiry

The reading of the charge

10

10.1. If the respondent appears at the hearing of the inquiry, each charge shall be read in the respondent's presence.

10.2. As soon as a charge has been read the respondent may, if he so desires, object to the charge, or to any part of it, in point of law. The Solicitor may answer any such objection and the respondent shall have the right of final reply. If an objection to a charge is upheld, no further proceedings shall be taken on that charge or part of the charge to which the objection relates.

10.3. The respondent shall be asked whether he admits each charge. In relation to any charge that is denied, the respondent shall be asked whether each conviction or fact within the charge is admitted.

10.4. If the respondent does not appear, the Committee may decide to proceed in the respondent's absence if it is satisfied that the notice of inquiry was properly served and that it is in the interests of justice to do so.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Presentation of the case against the respondent

11

11.1. The Solicitor may make an opening speech and—

- (a) if the respondent has not admitted every conviction or fact alleged, shall adduce evidence of any conviction or fact not admitted;
- (b) in a conviction case, shall address the Committee and may adduce evidence and make submissions, to show that if the conviction alleged is proved or admitted, the nature and circumstances of the offence are such as to render the respondent unfit to practise veterinary surgery;
- (c) in a conduct case, shall address the Committee and may adduce evidence and make submissions, to show that if the facts alleged are proved or admitted, the respondent is guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional respect;
- (d) in a fraudulent entry case, shall address the Committee and may adduce evidence and make submissions, to show that if the facts alleged are proved or admitted, the name of the respondent was fraudulently entered on a register.

11.2. The respondent shall have the opportunity to cross-examine any witness whom the College calls to give evidence in support of the charges against him.

11.3. If no evidence is adduced concerning any particular charge, and the respondent has made no admission of the relevant conviction or facts, the Committee shall make a finding on that charge in favour of the respondent and the Chairman shall announce that finding.

11.4. If the respondent does not appear, the Committee may accept an admission made in writing by the respondent.

Presentation of the case for the respondent

12

12.1. In relation to any charge concerning which evidence has been adduced, the respondent may submit that the Solicitor has not adduced sufficient evidence upon which the Committee could find—

- (a) the conviction or facts in the charge proved; or
- (b) that a conviction renders the respondent unfit to practise veterinary surgery; or
- (c) that the facts alleged are such as to constitute disgraceful conduct in a professional respect;
- (d) that the facts alleged are such as to establish that the name of the respondent was fraudulently entered on a register.

12.2. The respondent may adduce evidence concerning any conviction or fact which he has not admitted, and may address the Committee.

12.3. In a conviction case, the respondent may adduce evidence as to the nature and circumstances of the offence, to show that they do not render him unfit to practise veterinary surgery, and may address the Committee.

12.4. In a conduct case, the respondent may adduce evidence to show that the facts alleged are not such as to constitute disgraceful conduct in any professional respect, and may address the Committee.

12.5. In a fraudulent entry case, the respondent may adduce evidence to show that the facts alleged are not such as to establish that his name was fraudulently entered on a register, and may address the Committee.

12.6. The Solicitor shall have the opportunity to cross-examine any witness whom the respondent calls in support of his case.

Further submissions and general matters

13

13.1. The Solicitor may address the Committee by way of reply to the respondent's case.

13.2. At the conclusion of the Solicitor's address, if any, the respondent may address the Committee by way of final reply.

13.3. Without prejudice to paragraph 13.2, if, at any stage, the respondent has made a submission to the Committee on a point of law the Solicitor shall have the right of reply limited to that submission, and the respondent shall have the right of final reply.

Supplementary powers of the Chairman and Committee

14.1. The disciplinary proceedings to which these Rules apply are in the nature of civil proceedings, and the Committee may allow such further evidence, amendments and submissions and give such further directions as it considers appropriate in all the circumstances.

14.2. Members of the Committee or the Legal Assessor may put questions to the Solicitor, any party in the case or any witness.

Decision of the Committee

15.1. At the close of the evidence and submissions, the Committee shall consider each charge separately and shall decide whether or not each fact or conviction alleged in each charge has been proved, and the Chairman shall announce the Committee's findings.

15.2. The Committee may at its discretion allow further submissions to ascertain whether there is any evidence not already before it upon which the Respondent would wish to rely to support any submission that a conviction does not render him unfit to practise veterinary surgery, or that the facts found do not constitute disgraceful conduct in a professional respect or do not establish that his name was fraudulently entered on a register. Where the Respondent is allowed to make such submissions, the Solicitor may address the Committee by way of reply, and the Respondent shall have the right of final reply.

15.3. On the conclusion of the proceedings, the Committee shall consider all of the evidence and submissions and shall determine whether each charge against the respondent has been established, and the Chairman shall announce the Committee's findings.

15.4. In a conduct case, where the Committee finds that the charge has been proved, the finding of the Committee shall be that the respondent is guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional respect.

15.5. In a conduct case, where the Committee finds that the charge has not been proved, the finding of the Committee shall be that the respondent is not guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional respect.

Procedure where there is more than one respondent

16. Nothing in this Part shall prevent one inquiry being held into charges against two or more respondents. Where such an inquiry is held, these Rules shall apply with the necessary adaptations, and subject to any directions given by the Committee as to the order in which proceedings shall be taken by or in relation to the several respondents. Any such direction shall ensure that any right of a respondent under these Rules shall be exercised separately by each of the respondents who desire to invoke that right.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

PART IV

Procedure where Charges are Established

Fraudulent entry cases

17. In a fraudulent entry case, if the respondent admits or the Committee determines that the entry was fraudulently made, it shall make a direction in writing, signed by the Chairman, that the entry shall be removed from the Register.

Conduct and conviction cases

18.1. In a conduct or conviction case, where the respondent has admitted the charge or the Committee has found that the charge has been established—

- (a) The Solicitor may address the Committee, and may adduce evidence and make submissions, as to the character and previous history of the respondent;
- (b) The respondent may then address the Committee, and may adduce evidence and make submissions, by way of mitigation;
- (c) If the respondent does not attend the inquiry, the Committee shall take into consideration any written plea in mitigation submitted by the respondent.

18.2. The Committee shall next consider and determine whether to give its judgment concerning the respondent forthwith or to postpone judgment for a period not exceeding 2 years. The Chairman shall announce the Committee's determination.

18.3. If the Committee postpones its judgment, it may do so subject to undertakings from the respondent. Any such undertakings must be accepted by the respondent at the hearing before the Committee, and shall be set out in the written record of the Committee's determination and in the notice of direction served on the respondent in accordance with section 16(2) of the Act.

18.4. If the Committee gives its judgment forthwith, it may—

- (a) direct the Registrar to remove the respondent's name from the register;
- (b) direct that the respondent's registration be suspended for a specified period;
- (c) reprimand the respondent and/or warn the respondent as to his future conduct, and the Chairman shall announce the Committee's judgment accordingly.

18.5. If the Committee reserves reasons for its judgment, the Clerk shall serve those reasons with the notice of direction under Section 16(2) of the Act.

Procedure where judgment stands postponed

19

19.1. Where the judgment of the Committee stands postponed, and it appears to the Chairman from information received since the inquiry that the respondent has failed to comply with any undertaking given to the Committee or that the proceedings should be resumed for any other reason, the Chairman may direct that the proceedings shall be resumed.

19.2. Where the judgment of the Committee stands postponed and the Committee is to resume the hearing of an inquiry—

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

- (a) Not later than 28 days before the day fixed for the resumption of the proceedings, the Clerk shall send to the respondent and the Solicitor a notice of resumption and a copy of the information received since the inquiry.
- (b) The notice of resumption shall—
 - (i) state the day, time and place at which the proceedings are to be resumed and invite the respondent to appear;

19.3. At any hearing at which the proceedings are resumed—

- (a) the Solicitor shall set out for the Committee the position in which the case stands;
- (b) the Committee may receive oral or documentary evidence in relation to the case, or in relation to the conduct or any convictions of the respondent since the hearing of the inquiry;
- (c) the Solicitor and the respondent shall be entitled to address the Committee;
- (d) the Committee shall consider and determine whether it should further postpone its judgment, and—
 - (i) if the Committee determines to postpone its judgment again, it shall stand further postponed for a second and final period not exceeding 2 years, and paragraph 18.3 shall apply;
 - (ii) if the Committee determines that judgment shall not be postponed again, paragraph 18.4 shall apply;
 - (iii) the Chairman shall announce the Committee's determination and, where it is not further postponed, its judgment.

19.4. At any resumed proceedings, any new charge alleged against the respondent under these Rules shall be dealt with in accordance with Part III of these Rules. Nothing in this paragraph shall prevent the Committee from receiving evidence of any conduct of the respondent or conviction recorded against the respondent which has not been made the subject of a charge under these Rules.

19.5. So far as is reasonably practicable, proceedings resumed under this Rule shall take place before a Committee having the same constitution as the Committee which heard the inquiry. Nevertheless, subject to the provisions of the Act, the validity of resumed proceedings shall not be called in question by reason only of the fact that the Committee is differently constituted.

23.6. Subject to paragraph 23.5, any charge which may result in a direction by the Committee that a respondent be removed from the register, shall be proved so that the Committee is satisfied to the highest civil standard of proof; so that it is sure.

23.7. The Committee may require any person to be called as a witness in any proceedings before it, whether or not the parties consent thereto. Any witness summons requiring the attendance of a witness or the production of documents before the Committee pursuant to paragraph 4(1) or (2) of Schedule 2 to the Act shall be issued out of the High Court or the High Court of Justice in Northern Ireland, as the case may be.
