7. Policy background

- 7.1 The Assessment Regulations and the 2003 Regulations set out a framework which local authorities must follow when assessing a person's ability to pay for accommodation that is provided, or proposed to be provided, to him under Part 3 of the 1948 Act. It is standard practice for these Regulations to be amended each April to provide for annual uprating in line with inflation.
- 7.2 The 2003 Regulations set out the weekly amount ("the PEA") which local authorities are to assume, in the absence of special circumstances, that residents will need to retain for their personal requirements. This instrument increases the PEA from £19.60 per week to £20.45 per week, in order to reflect the increase in average earnings over the previous twelve months. This is expected to benefit around 260,000 supported residents.
- 7.3 Residents are expected to meet the cost to the local authority of providing their residential care where the resident's assessed capital exceeds the upper capital limit specified in the Assessment Regulations. Residents having capital below the upper limit are eligible for financial assistance from the local authority. Capital between the upper and lower capital limits is deemed to produce a tariff income at a rate of £1 for every £250 or part thereof of capital assets. Residents whose capital is below the lower capital limit are not expected to contribute to the cost of their residential care from their capital resources.
- 7.4 This instrument increases the upper capital limit from £21,000 to £21,500 and the lower capital limit from £12,750 to £13,000, in line with inflation. The increase in the lower capital limit is expected to benefit a few thousand supported residents. The increase in the upper capital limit is expected to benefit a few hundred residents.
- 7.5 In October 2003, as part of Pension Credit, the Department for Work and Pensions introduced a weekly Savings Credit for people aged 65 or over with low or modest incomes in addition to the basic state pension (see the State Pension Credit Act 2002 (c.16) and the State Pension Credit Regulations 2002 (S.I. 2002/1792)). In response, the Department of Health introduced a weekly savings disregard for the purpose of assessing a person's ability to pay for residential care. The instrument provides for an uprating of the savings disregard in line with average earnings. This will increase the £5.05 maximum savings disregard to £5.25 per week for single residents and from £7.50 to £7.85 per week for couples.
- 7.6 On 18 January 2006 the Department of Health published a consultation paper giving details of these proposed changes in the assessment of a person's resources for the purposes of Part 3 of the 1948 Act. Fourteen comments were received relating to the proposed changes, seven of which related to the size of the increase proposed for the Personal Expenses Allowance

- 7.7 As well as the changes relating to the PEA, capital limits and the savings disregard, the consultation paper also proposed amendments to the Assessment Regulations in order to reflect amendments made to the Income Support (General) Regulations 1987 (“the Income Support Regulations”) by the Social Security (Miscellaneous Amendments) (No.4) Regulations 2006. These amendments would have provided for certain payments which are disregarded under the Income Support Regulations to also to be disregarded under the Assessment Regulations. Given the responses to these amendments, the Department wishes to give further detailed consideration to these proposals. Should the proposed changes be made, they will be introduced at a later date.
- 7.8 The Department of Health has also been having ongoing discussions with a group of key stakeholders (including Age Concern, Help the Aged, the Local Government Association, the National Association of Financial Assessment Officers, the Nursing Home Fees Agency, the Relatives & Residents Association, Counsel & Care and Mencap) on longer term amendments to the Assessment Regulations and the associated Charging for Residential Accommodation Guide (CRAG).
- 7.9 Over the years the CRAG in particular has become out of date. The discussions that have been taking place, not constrained by the consultation period, are intended to ensure that the CRAG is brought fully up to date and a detailed analysis takes place of some issues of long standing concern.

8. Impact

- 8.1 A Regulatory Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument as it has no impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.
- 8.2 The impact on the public sector is limited to local authorities in England exercising particular social services functions and is expected to be minor. The Department of Health considers that the costs to local authorities of the increases in the amount of the PEA, the capital limits and the savings disregards will be met by increased income generated through residential care charges, due to expected increases in residents’ incomes and savings. Consequently, the Department does not consider that this instrument will result in significant new burdens for local authorities.
