- (b) he shall not be required to provide a surety or sureties for his surrender to custody; and
- (c) no other requirement shall be imposed on him as a condition of bail.

(4) He may be required, before release on bail, to—

- (a) provide a surety or sureties to secure his surrender to custody;
- (b) give (or have given on his behalf) security for his surrender to custody.

(5) He may be required to comply, before release on bail or later, with such requirements as appear to the judge advocate to be necessary—

- (a) to secure that he surrenders to custody at an appointed time and place;
- (b) to secure that he does not commit an offence while on bail;
- (c) to secure that he does not obstruct the course of justice whether in relation to himself or any other person;

(6) If a parent or guardian of a child or young person consents to be surety for the child or young person for the purposes of this paragraph, the parent or guardian may be required to secure that the child or young person complies with any requirement imposed on him by virtue of paragraph (5) but—

- (a) no requirement shall be imposed on the parent or the guardian of a young person by virtue of this paragraph where it appears that the young person will attain the age of seventeen before the time to be appointed for him to surrender to custody; and
- (b) the parent or guardian shall not be required to secure compliance with any requirement to which his consent does not extend and shall not, in respect of those requirements to which his consent does extend, be bound in a greater sum than £50.

Bail - conditions and directions

8.—(1) This article applies where a judge advocate grants a person bail subject to any conditions that shall be met before the person is released.

(2) The judge advocate may direct how such a condition shall be met.

(3) The court administration officer shall serve a certificate in the form set out as form 2 in the Schedule recording the condition and any such direction on—

- (a) the person granted bail;
- (b) the custodian; and
- (c) any other person directly affected by any such direction.

(4) A person directly affected by any such direction need not comply with it until the court administration officer serves that person with that certificate.

(5) Unless the judge advocate otherwise directs, if the condition or any such direction requires someone to enter into a recognizance, the recognizance shall be—

- (a) in the form set out as form 3 in the Schedule and signed before—
 - (i) a judge advocate;
 - (ii) the custodian; or
 - (iii) someone acting with the authority of a judge advocate or the custodian;
- (b) copied immediately to the person who enters into it;
- (c) served immediately by the judge advocate on the custodian, or by the custodian on the judge advocate as appropriate.

(6) Unless the judge advocate otherwise directs, if the condition or direction requires someone to make a payment, surrender a document or take some other step—

- (a) that payment, document or step shall be made, surrendered or taken to or before—
 - (i) a judge advocate;
 - (ii) the custodian; or
 - (iii) someone acting with the authority of a judge advocate or the custodian;
- (b) the judge advocate or the custodian, as appropriate, shall serve immediately on the other a statement that the payment, document or step has been made, surrendered or taken, as appropriate.

(7) The custodian shall release the person where it appears that any condition ordered by the judge advocate has been met.

(8) Any record required by article 9 shall be made by including in a file relating to the case in question—

- (a) any certificate served under paragraph (3); and
- (b) a copy of the record of the decision made.

Conditions of bail - supplementary provisions

9.—(1) Where a judge advocate—

- (a) grants bail under this Order,
- (b) appoints a time or place or a different time or place for a person granted bail under this Order to surrender to custody, or
- (c) varies any conditions of bail or imposes conditions in respect of bail under this Order, he shall make a record of the decision in writing containing the particulars prescribed by paragraph (2) and, if requested to do so by the person in relation to whom the decision was taken, shall cause him to be given a copy of the record of the decision as soon as practicable after the record is made.

(2) The record required by paragraph (1) shall be made by way of an entry in a file relating to the case in question and the record shall include the following particulars, namely—

- (a) the effect of the decision;
- (b) a statement of any condition imposed in respect of bail, indicating whether it is to be complied with before or after release on bail; and
- (c) where conditions of bail are varied, a statement of the conditions as varied.

(3) Where a person has given security in pursuance of article 7(4)(b), and a judge advocate is satisfied that he failed to surrender to custody then, unless it appears that he had reasonable cause for his failure, the judge advocate may order the forfeiture of the security.

(4) If a judge advocate orders the forfeiture of a security under paragraph (3), he may declare that the forfeiture extends to such amount less than the full value of the security as he thinks fit to order.

(5) An order under paragraph (3) shall, unless previously revoked, take effect at the end of 21 days beginning with the day on which it is made.

(6) Where a judge advocate has ordered the forfeiture of a security under paragraph (3), a judge advocate may, if satisfied on an application made by or on behalf of the person who gave it that he did after all have reasonable cause for his failure to surrender to custody, by order remit the forfeiture or declare that it extends to such amount less than the full value of the security as he thinks fit to order.

(7) An application under paragraph (6) may be made before or after the order for forfeiture has taken effect, but shall not be entertained unless the judge advocate is satisfied that the Director of Service Prosecutions was given reasonable notice of the applicant's intention to make it.

(8) A security which has been ordered to be forfeited by a judge advocate under paragraph (3) shall, to the extent of the forfeiture—

- (a) if it consists of money, be accounted for and paid in the same manner as a fine imposed by the Court Martial would be;
- (b) if it does not consist of money, be enforced by such court as may be specified in the order.

(9) Where an order is made under paragraph (6) after the order for forfeiture of the security in question has taken effect, any money which would have fallen to be repaid or paid over to the person who gave the security if the order under paragraph (6) has been made before the order for forfeiture took effect shall be repaid or paid over to him.

Offence of absconding by persons on bail

10.—(1) If a person who has been granted bail under this Order fails without reasonable cause to surrender to custody he shall be guilty of an offence.

(2) If a person who—

- (a) has been granted bail under this Order, and

(b) has failed with reasonable cause to surrender to custody, fails to surrender to custody at the appointed place as soon after the appointed time as is reasonably practicable he shall be guilty of an offence.

(3) In proceedings for an offence under paragraph (1) or (2) the defendant is to be treated as having had reasonable cause for failure unless sufficient evidence is adduced to raise an issue as to whether he had reasonable cause.

(4) A failure to give to a person granted bail under this Order a copy of the record of the decision shall not constitute a reasonable cause for that person's failure to surrender to custody.

(5) An offence under paragraph (1) or (2) shall be triable summarily by a civil court in England or Wales (as well as being triable by the Court Martial).

(6) Where a magistrates' court convicts a person of an offence under paragraph (1) or (2) the court may, if it thinks—

- (a) that the circumstances of the offence are such that greater punishment should be inflicted for that offence than the court has power to inflict, or
- (b) in a case where it commits that person for trial to the Crown Court for another offence, that it would be appropriate for him to be dealt with for the offence under paragraph (1) or (2) by the court before which he is tried for the other offence, commit him in custody or on bail to the Crown Court for sentence.

(7) A person who is convicted summarily of an offence under paragraph (1) or (2) and is not committed to the Crown Court for sentence shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 3 months or to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale or to both, and a person who is so committed for sentence shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or to a fine or to both.

(8) A person who is convicted of an offence under paragraph (1) or (2) by the Court Martial shall be liable to any punishment mentioned in the Table in section 164 of the 2006 Act but any sentence of imprisonment imposed in respect of the offence shall not exceed 12 months.

(9) In any proceedings for an offence under paragraph (1) or (2) a document purporting to be a copy of the part of the record which relates to the time and place appointed for the person specified in the record to surrender to custody and to be duly certified to be a true copy of that part of the record shall be evidence of the time and place appointed for that person to surrender to custody.

(10) For the purposes of paragraph (9)—

- (a) "the record" means the record of the decision of the judge advocate made in pursuance of article 9(1);
- (b) the copy of the record is duly certified if it is certified by the judge advocate or such other person as may be authorised by him to act for the purpose.

Liability to arrest for absconding or breaking conditions of bail

11.—(1) If a person who has been granted bail under this Order and is under a duty to surrender to custody fails to do so at the time appointed for him to do so, a judge advocate may issue a warrant for the arrest of the person.

(2) If a person who has been granted bail under this Order surrenders to custody at the time appointed for him to do so but then absents himself without leave before the hearing of any proceedings has begun or resumed in respect of that person, a judge advocate may issue a warrant for the arrest of the person; but no warrant shall be issued under this paragraph where that person is absent in accordance with leave given to him by or on behalf of a court or by a judge advocate.

(3) The judge advocate may issue a warrant under paragraph (1) or (2) to a constable, or where the person to be arrested is subject to service law or a civilian subject to service discipline, a service policeman.

(4) A person who has been granted bail under this Order and is under a duty to surrender into the custody of a court or a person may be arrested without warrant under paragraph (1) or (2) by a constable or, where the person is subject to service law or is a civilian subject to service discipline, by a service policeman—

- (a) if the constable or service policeman has reasonable grounds for believing that that person is not likely to surrender to custody;
- (b) if the constable or service policeman has reasonable grounds for believing that that person is likely to break any of the conditions of his bail or has reasonable grounds for suspecting that that person has broken any of those conditions; or
- (c) in a case where that person was granted bail with one or more surety or sureties, if a surety notifies a constable or service policeman in writing that that person is unlikely to surrender to custody and that for that reason the surety wishes to be relieved of his obligations as a surety.

(5) A person arrested in pursuance of paragraph (4) shall be brought as soon as practicable before a judge advocate.

(6) The judge advocate before whom a person is brought under paragraph (5) may, if of the opinion that that person—

- (a) is not likely to surrender to custody, or
- (b) has broken or is likely to break any condition of his bail, commit him to custody or grant him bail subject to the same or different conditions, but if not of that opinion shall grant him bail subject to the same conditions (if any) as were originally imposed.

(7) In this article—

- (a) “constable” includes any person (whether within or outside the United Kingdom) having powers corresponding with those of a constable;
- (b) “civilian subject to service discipline”, “service policeman” and “subject to service law” have the same meaning as in section 374 of the 2006 Act.

Bail with sureties

12.—(1) This article applies where a person is granted bail under this Order on condition that he provides one or more surety or sureties for the purpose of securing that he surrenders to custody.

(2) In considering the suitability for that purpose of a proposed surety, regard may be had (amongst other things) to—

- (a) the surety’s financial resources;
- (b) his character and any previous convictions of his; and
- (c) his proximity (whether in point of kinship, place of residence or otherwise) to the person for whom he is to be surety.

(3) Where a judge advocate grants a person bail under this Order on such a condition but is unable to release him because no surety or no suitable surety is available, the judge advocate shall fix the amount in which the surety is to be bound and paragraphs (4) and (5) shall apply for the purpose of enabling the recognizance of the surety to be entered into subsequently.

(4) Where this paragraph applies the recognizance of the surety may be entered into before such persons or descriptions of persons as the judge advocate may by order specify or, if he makes no such order, before a judge advocate.

(5) Where a surety seeks to enter into his recognizance before any person in accordance with paragraph (4) but that person declines to take his recognizance because he is not satisfied of the surety's suitability, the surety may apply to a judge advocate for the judge advocate to take his recognizance and the judge advocate shall, if satisfied of his suitability, take his recognizance.

(6) Where, in pursuance of paragraph (4), a recognizance is entered into otherwise than before the judge advocate who fixed the amount of the recognizance, the same consequences shall follow as if it had been entered into before that judge advocate.

Forfeiture of a recognizance given as a condition of bail

13.—(1) This article applies where—

- (a) a judge advocate grants bail under article 3 to a person; and
- (b) the bail is subject to a condition that the person provides a surety to guarantee that he will surrender to custody as required; but
- (c) the person does not surrender to custody as required.

(2) The court administration officer shall serve notice on the surety and the Director of Service Prosecutions of a hearing at which a judge advocate may order the forfeiture of the recognizance given by that surety.

(3) A judge advocate shall not forfeit a surety's recognizance—

- (a) less than 7 days after the date on which the court administration officer serves notice under paragraph (2); and
- (b) without giving the surety an opportunity to make representations at the hearing.

Offence of agreeing to indemnify sureties

14.—(1) If a person agrees with another to indemnify that other against any liability which that other may incur as a surety under this Order, he and that other person shall be guilty of an offence.

(2) An offence under paragraph (1) is committed whether the agreement is made before or after the person to be indemnified becomes a surety and whether or not he becomes a surety and whether the agreement contemplates compensation in money or in money's worth.

(3) An offence under paragraph (1) shall be triable by a civil court in England or Wales (as well as being triable by the Court Martial).

(4) Where a magistrates' court convicts a person of an offence under paragraph (1) the court may, if it thinks—

- (a) that the circumstances of the offence are such that greater punishment should be inflicted for that offence than the court has power to inflict, or
- (b) in a case where it commits that person for trial to the Crown Court for another offence, that it would be appropriate for him to be dealt with for the offence under paragraph (1) by the court before which he is tried for the other offence, commit him in custody or on bail to the Crown Court for sentence.

(5) A person guilty of an offence under paragraph (1) shall be liable—

- (a) on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 3 months or to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale or to both;
- (b) on conviction on indictment or if sentenced by the Crown Court on committal for sentence under paragraph (4), to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or a fine or to both; or

- (6) No proceedings for an offence under paragraph (1) shall be instituted before a civil court except by, or with the consent of, the Director of Public Prosecutions.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order makes provision for a judge advocate to grant bail pending an appeal in respect of persons sentenced by the Summary Appeal Court or the Service Civilian Court.

Article 3 gives a judge advocate the power to grant or revoke bail pending appeal and to vary the conditions of bail. It provides that the judge advocate may direct the person to appear at such time and place as the judge advocate may require. It also contains time limits for the grant of bail.

Article 4 provides that bail cannot be granted, save in exceptional circumstances, to persons convicted of any of the offences listed in section 25(2) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 (c. 33).

Article 5 provides that any time spent on release on bail does not count as part of the term of imprisonment or detention.

Article 6 sets out the procedure for making an application to the judge advocate about bail pending appeal.

Articles 7 and 8 deal with the imposition by a judge advocate of conditions of bail, including a power to impose such conditions as appear to be necessary to secure the person's surrender and good behaviour when released.

Article 9 requires the making of records of the judge advocate's decisions relating to bail and provides for the power to order the forfeiture of security where a person has failed to surrender to custody.

Article 10 provides for two offences, namely the offence of failing without reasonable cause to surrender to custody and the offence of failing to surrender as soon as reasonably practicable after having failed to surrender because of reasonable cause.

Article 11 gives the judge advocate the power to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person or who has absconded following his surrender. The article also allows the arrest of a person in the absence of a warrant in certain specified circumstances.

Article 12 applies where the grant of bail is conditional on the provision of sureties to secure the person's surrender to custody. It sets out the factors which may be considered by the judge advocate in deciding on the suitability of a surety, together with the procedure for the surety to enter recognizances.

Article 13 sets out the procedure for the judge advocate to order forfeiture of a recognizance in the event of the appellant failing to surrender to custody.

Article 14 creates the offence of agreeing to indemnify sureties.
