EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the National Savings Stock Register Regulations 1976 (S.I. 1976/2012). Regulation 3 inserts new definitions, including—

- (a) “term”, which means a specified period of time for which a rate of interest is fixed in respect of stock;
- (b) “fixed interest stock”, which means stock with a term, except Capital Bonds and Pensioners’ Guaranteed Income Bonds; and
- (c) “new stock”, which means fixed interest stock issued after 19th September 2012 or fixed interest stock issued before 20th September 2012 for which a new term has commenced after 19th September 2012.

Regulation 5 amends provision relating to the maximum value of stock that may be held. The amendments prevent a person from purchasing or subscribing for stock of a particular description if that purchase or subscription would result in that person’s holding exceeding the maximum value permitted by the terms and conditions. The amendments clarify that the terms and conditions of stock may make provision as to the manner in which the value of a holding is to be calculated. The amendments also remove a requirement that a holder is to be treated as holding the full value of jointly held stock and provide that the rule requiring the Director of Savings to ignore inherited stock when calculating the value of a person’s holding is not to apply to new stock.

Regulation 7 inserts provision for the forfeiture of new stock. The Director of Savings may direct that new stock be forfeited where the Director thinks fit. Where the Director of Savings has directed that new stock be forfeited, an amount equal to the nominal value of that stock is payable to the holder and any other amount that was payable in respect of that stock may also be paid to the holder where the Director thinks fit.

Regulation 8 replaces, for new stock, provision requiring the Director of Savings to issue a certificate or subscription book following transactions in stock with an obligation to make available a record relating to that stock.

Regulations 9 and 24 omit provisions relating to the charging of commission on certain transactions in stock, and the charging of fees on awards made under section 5 of the National Debt Act 1972 \(c. 65\).

Regulation 12 inserts provision that any election as to the means of payment of interest on a Fixed Rate Savings Bond is to be irrevocable from the point at which a new term commences after 19th September 2012. Where the holder has elected for payment of interest by dividends, those dividends are to be paid monthly. Where the holder has elected for any interest to be added to the capital value of the Fixed Rate Savings Bond, that interest is to be added annually.

Regulation 12 also inserts provision for the daily accrual of interest on fixed interest stock issued after 19th September 2012 and on other fixed interest stock as from the anniversary of its date of issue that falls after 19th September 2012 and before 20th September 2013.

Regulation 13 amends provision relating to the authority for making payments. The amendment removes the obligation of the Director of Savings to take steps to cancel payments once initiated.

Regulation 14 inserts provision that the holder of new stock may, subject to the approval of the Director of Savings, authorise another person to apply for, or receive, payment in respect of that new stock.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Regulation 15 inserts provision allowing the Director of Savings to issue any documents relating to jointly held stock to the person whose name appears first in the register, unless other arrangements have been made.

Regulation 16 inserts provision permitting all joint holders of new stock, other than trustees, to authorise any one of their number to act on behalf of all of them.

Regulation 17 inserts provision that notice of a charge, trust or other equitable interest in respect of stock is not receivable by the Director of Savings.

Regulation 25 amends provision relating to the indemnification of the Treasury and the Director of Savings so as to extend such provision to cover payments made by electronic transfer on new stock. These changes include a provision that neither the Treasury nor the Director of Savings is to be liable where there is a delay or failure in the system by which electronic transfers are conducted that is outside of the control of the Director of Savings.

Various provisions remove requirements for applications and notices to be made or given in written form.

A full impact assessment has not been produced for this instrument as no impact on the costs of business or the voluntary sector is foreseen.
