EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations make amendments to the National Health Service (Travel Expenses and Remission of Charges) Regulations 2003 (“the principal Regulations”). The principal Regulations make provision for England relating to people in receipt of state benefits or on low incomes to be reimbursed for travel expenses incurred in obtaining certain NHS services and to be exempt from paying certain NHS charges.

Regulation 2 deals with amendments relating to students who are eligible for assistance from the Scottish Ministers (“eligible students”). The young students’ bursary and the independent students’ bursary, both paid on behalf of the Scottish Ministers by the Student Awards Agency for Scotland⁽¹²⁾, are to be disregarded from the assessment of an eligible student’s income when determining whether or not the student is entitled to benefits under the principal Regulations. If an eligible student has a student loan, that loan is however to be taken into account when determining whether or not the student is entitled to benefits under the principal Regulations, unless it is a hardship loan. Furthermore, eligible students who are paid student loans but are not in receipt of the maximum amount potentially payable to people studying on their course are treated as if they were paid that maximum amount – for the purposes of determining their income when determining whether or not they are entitled to benefits under the principal Regulations.

Regulation 3 deals with amendments relating to students who are eligible for assistance from the Welsh Ministers. Maintenance grants payable by the Welsh Ministers and which are not taken into account in certain student loan calculations are to continue to be disregarded from the assessment of a student’s income when determining whether or not they are entitled to benefits under the principal Regulations, and legislative cross-references are updated to achieve that effect. Essentially, the new-cross referencing is because of the replacement of the Assembly Learning Grants and Loans (Higher Education) (Wales) (No. 2) Regulations 2011 (“the 2011 Regulations”) by the Education (Student Support) (Wales) Regulations 2012 (“the 2012 Regulations”). However there is a transitional provision, inserted into the principal Regulations, to ensure that students still receiving their maintenance grants under the 2011 Regulations, rather than the 2012 Regulations, because their academic year started before 1st September 2013 will continue to have those grants disregarded, as before.

Regulation 4 amends the principal Regulations to provide for persons who are in receipt of an award of universal credit for the period beginning on 1st November 2013 and ending on 5th April 2014 (and their partners and certain dependent children and young persons) to be entitled to full remission of certain NHS charges and payment of certain NHS travel expenses without making a claim. Regulation 5 of the principal Regulations previously referred to the period beginning on 29th April 2013 and ending on 31st October 2013.
