where A is equal to the amount of the reduction in the amount of O’s award or, as the case may be, the amount of O and J’s award, calculated under regulation 3ZB for the assessment period preceding the assessment period in which an application is submitted under regulation 16E(a).

Recoverability of payments made under regulation 16D(1)

16H. Payments made under regulation 16D(1) are recoverable by virtue of section 71ZH of the Administration Act as if they were hardship payments under regulation 116 of the UC Regulations and for this purpose, regulation 119 of those Regulations applies to payments under regulation 16D(1) as it applies to such hardship payments.”.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Social Security (Loss of Benefit) Regulations 2001 (S.I.2001/4022) (“the 2001 Regulations”). The 2001 Regulations prescribe the rules which relate to the restrictions in payment imposed by virtue of sections 6B to 13 of the Social Security Fraud Act 2001 (“the 2001 Act”) of certain benefits to or in respect of certain persons (“offenders”). These rules apply in relation to payments of benefits to offenders who have been convicted of one or more benefit offences in any proceedings who have agreed to pay an administrative penalty for a benefit offence or who have been cautioned for a benefit offence. These rules also apply in relation to payments of benefit to members of offenders’ families. The penalty may result in a total loss of benefit or a reduction in benefit for four weeks, 13 weeks, 26 weeks or three years.

These Regulations make provision as to how the loss of benefit regime will apply to universal credit, a new benefit introduced by Part 1 of the Welfare Reform Act 2012 (c.5) (“the 2012 Act”). In particular, the regulations deal with the appropriate start date for disqualification period for persons entitled to universal credit (regulation 4(3), (5) and (7) and 5(3), (5) and (6)(b)), the amount of the reduction in universal credit (regulation 9) and entitlement to, and recoverability of, hardship payments where universal credit is reduced either by virtue of provision made by these Regulations or sanctions under section 26 or 27 of the 2012 Act (regulation 14).

These Regulations also make other amendments to the 2001 Regulations.

Regulations 4(2), (4) and (6) and 5(2), (4) and (6) specify what is to be start date for the disqualification period where the offender is in receipt of a benefit which is payable neither wholly in advance nor in arrears.

Regulation 6 prescribes the offences, conviction for which will result in a three year loss of benefit penalty. By virtue of section 118(5) of the 2012 Act, this applies where the court has found, in relation to those offences, that there was an overpayment of at least £50,000, the offence has been punished by a custodial sentence of at least one year (including a suspended sentence) or, in the case of certain offences, the court has found that the offence was committed over a period of at least two years.

Regulation 8 makes provision relating to the amount of reductions where an offender is in receipt of an income-related employment and support allowance replacing the provisions which previously applied. Regulation 7 makes consequential provision in that regard.

Regulation 10 updates a reference in the relevant regulation to persons over the age of 16 in respect of whom child benefit is payable.

Regulations 11(2) and 12 make amendments consequential on the introduction of personal independence payment. Regulation 11(3) and (4) makes consequential amendments as a result of changes to the provisions relating to sanctions in jobseeker’s allowance made by the 2012 Act.

Regulation 13 allows an income-related employment and support allowance to be payable to an offender or an offender’s family member at a reduced rate where it would otherwise not be payable by operation of the 2001 Act if they would be entitled to a hardship payment under regulation 62A of the Employment and Support Allowance Regulations 2008 (S.I.2008/794).

Regulation 15 updates the list of benefits which are not sanctionable to reflect the current references in armed forces pensions legislation.

A full impact assessment has not been produced for this instrument as it has no impact on the private sector or civil society organisations.
