- (l) the badge must include such additional security features as will further mitigate the risk of forgery by, so far as practicable, preventing the badge from being copied readily and allowing genuine badges to be distinguished from forgeries.

For the purposes of paragraph (k) an “appropriate body” means a body accredited to Standard ISO 9001:2008 (Quality management Systems) (prepared by the International Organisation for Standard-ization)(5)) and which, in the opinion of the local authority, has the necessary expertise to provide the report.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

A disabled person’s badge (known as a “Blue Badge”) enables the holder to benefit from a range of parking concessions and exemptions from certain charges which apply to other motorists. The Disabled Persons (Badges for Motor Vehicles) (Wales) Regulations 2000 (S.I. 2000/1786 (W.123)) (“the Principal Regulations”) make provision regarding the issue of the badges by local authorities.

These Regulations amend the Principal Regulations, primarily, by requiring that the design and manufacture of badges must comply with substantially more sophisticated technical requirements, designed to mitigate the risk of forgery.

Other significant amendments include removing the fee for a badge for new applicants and for renewals of existing badges, raising the maximum fee from £2 to £10 in the case of replacement badges and for organisational badges, and enabling local authorities to refuse to issue or to withdraw badges following a single conviction under the legislation used to prosecute fraudulent misuse of badges.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

A full regulatory impact assessment of the effect that the amendments will have on the cost to business and the voluntary sector is available from the Integrated Transport Division, Cathays Park, CF10 3NQ.
