EXPLANATORY NOTES

COMMENTARY ON SECTIONS

Section 5 - Enforcement of minimum rates

Right not to suffer detriment

30. The application of sections 23 and 24 of the 1998 Act confer a right on a worker not to suffer detriment by his employer for:
  - the worker enforcing rights under this Act (or having such rights being enforced on the worker's behalf),
  - the worker's employer being prosecuted under this Act, or
  - the worker being or becoming (or potentially being or becoming) entitled to be paid a minimum rate of remuneration in accordance with this Act.
31. Where an employer does subject the worker to detriment as a result of enforcing the worker's rights, the worker can make a complaint to an employment tribunal.
