

Parliament Act 1661

1661 CHAPTER 7

The Estates of Parliament now Conveened by his Maiesties speciall Authority Considering that the quyetnes stability and happines of the people doe depend vpon the safety of the Kings Maiesties sacred person and the maintenance of his Soverane Authority Princely power and prerogative Royall And conceaveing themselffs obleidged in conscience in discharge of their duties to Almighty God to the Kings Maisetie and to their Native Cuntrie to make a due acknowledgement therof at this time Doe therfor unanimouslie Declare That they will with their lives and fortunes mantaine and defend the same And they doe heirby acknowledge That the power of calling holding proroguing and dissolveing of Parliaments and all Conventions and meittings of the Estates Doth sollie reside in the Kings Maiestie his aires and successours And that as no Parliament can be lawfully kept without the speciall warrand and presence of the Kings Maiestie or his Commissioner So no acts sentences or statuts to be past in any Parliament can be binding vpon the people or have the authority and force of lawes without the speciall authority and approbation of the Kings Maiestie or his Commissioner interponed therto at the making therof . . . ^{F1}

Textual Amendments

F1 Words repealed by Statute Law Revision \(Scotland\) Act 1906 \(c. 38\)

Changes to legislation:

There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Parliament Act 1661.