

Statute Law Revision Act (Northern Ireland) 1952

1952 CHAPTER 1

3 Omission of enacting and other words.

So much of the provisions of any Statute Law Revision Act applicable in Northern Ireland as authorises the omission of any enactment or enacting or other words, other than such words as are referred to in the last preceding section, shall apply to the Statutes Revised, Northern Ireland, so, however, that, without prejudice to any other saving contained in this Act, an omission made under the authority of this section shall not affect the construction or interpretation of any statute.

Changes to legislation:

There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Statute Law Revision Act (Northern Ireland) 1952, Section 3.