

Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003

2003 asp 13

PART 20

ABSCONDING

Effect of unauthorised absence

305 Effect of long unauthorised absence ending more than 14 days before expiry of compulsory treatment order

- (1) Where the unauthorised absence of a patient who is subject to a compulsory treatment order—
 - (a) lasted longer than 28 consecutive days; and
 - (b) ceased before the beginning of the period of 14 days ending with the day when the compulsory treatment would, apart from this subsection, cease to authorise the measures specified in it,the order shall cease to have effect at the expiry of the period of 14 days beginning with the day when the patient's unauthorised absence ceased.
- (2) The patient's responsible medical officer shall, during the period of 14 days secondly referred to in subsection (1) above, carry out a review in respect of the compulsory treatment order to which the patient is subject by complying with the requirements set out in section 77(3) of this Act.
- (3) Where any part of the period of 14 days referred to in subsection (2) above occurs within the period of 2 months mentioned in subsection (5) of section 77 or subsection (3) of section 78 of this Act, the review which would (apart from this subsection) have been carried out during that period of 2 months under that section shall not be carried out.
- (4) The other review provisions (that is to say, section 83(2) and (3) and the subsequent provisions of Chapter 4 of Part 7 of this Act) shall, in accordance with subsections (5) and (6) below, apply in respect and in consequence of a review under this section as they apply in respect and in consequence of the reviews for which that Chapter provides.

- (5) Where the compulsory treatment order to which the patient is subject has not been extended as mentioned in section 78(1) of this Act, those of the other review provisions which relate to a first review apply.
- (6) Where that order has been so extended, those of the other review provisions which relate to a further review apply.
