EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend sections 265 and 266 in Part VIII of the Companies Act 1985 (“the 1985 Act”) concerning the distribution of profits of an investment company. The amendments are in further implementation of Article 15.4 of the Second Council Directive 77/91/EEC (O.J. No. L26, 31.1.77, p.1), on the co-ordination of safeguards in respect of the formation of public limited liability companies and the maintenance and alteration of their capital.

The Regulations alter the requirements that a public limited company must satisfy in order to qualify as an investment company under section 266 of the 1985 Act, and in order to take advantage of the special rules on distributions by investment companies contained in section 265 of the 1985 Act. Under section 266(2)(c) as amended a company must, to qualify as an investment company, continue to be prohibited by its memorandum or articles of association from distributing capital profits, but that prohibition need no longer extend to distributions of capital profits by redemption or purchase of a company’s own shares under section 160 or 162 of the 1985 Act. Similarly, an investment company will under section 265(4)(b)(i) as amended continue to be prohibited from making a distribution in a relevant accounting period if it has already made a distribution of capital profits in that period, but that requirement has been relaxed to provide that distributions by redemption or purchase of a company’s own shares pursuant to section 160 and 162 will not prevent a section 265 distribution (subject to the transitional provision in regulation 4).

A Regulatory Impact Assessment of these Regulations is available from the Department of Trade and Industry, Company Law and Investigations Directorate, Room 507, 1 Victoria Street, London SW1H 0ET. A copy has also been placed in the libraries of both Houses of Parliament.
