
STATUTORY INSTRUMENTS

2000 No. 250

MINISTERS OF THE CROWN

The Transfer of Functions (Minister for the Civil Service and Treasury) Order 2000

Made	- - - -	8th February 2000
Laid before Parliament		16th February 2000
Coming into force	- -	1st April 2000

At the Court at Buckingham Palace, the 8th day of February 2000

Present,

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

Her Majesty, in pursuance of section 1 of the Ministers of the Crown Act 1975(1), is pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

Citation and commencement

1.—(1) This Order may be cited as the Transfer of Functions (Minister for the Civil Service and Treasury) Order 2000.

(2) This Order shall come into force on 1st April 2000.

Transfer of functions relating to computers and telecommunications

2. The functions of the Minister for the Civil Service with respect to the centralised procurement or provision of goods, services and facilities in the fields of computers and telecommunications shall be exercisable concurrently with the Treasury.

Supplementary

3.—(1) Any rights and liabilities to which the Minister for the Civil Service is entitled or subject in connection with those functions under any contract—

(a) made before the commencement of this Order, and

(b) in relation to which he acts or acted through the executive agency known as the Central Computer and Telecommunications Agency,

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

are hereby transferred to the Treasury.

(2) Accordingly, any such contract made before the commencement of this Order shall have effect so far as necessary for the purpose or in consequence of any transfer effected by this Order as if any reference to the Minister for the Civil Service or any officer of his (including any reference which is to be construed as such a reference) were a reference to the Treasury or an officer of the Treasury.

(3) This Order shall not affect the validity of anything done by or in relation to the Minister for the Civil Service before the commencement of this Order; and anything (including legal proceedings) which at the commencement of this Order is in process of being done by or in relation to the Minister for the Civil Service may, if it relates to any such contract, be continued by or in relation to the Treasury.

(4) Anything done (or having effect as if done) by the Minister for the Civil Service for the purpose of or in connection with any such contract shall, if in force at the commencement of this Order, continue in force and have effect as if done by the Treasury.

A. K. Galloway
Clerk of the Privy Council

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order provides that functions with respect to the centralised procurement or provision of goods, services and facilities in the fields of computers and telecommunications which are exercisable by the Minister for the Civil Service may also be exercised by the Treasury. It transfers to the Treasury rights and liabilities in connection with those functions under contracts entered into before the commencement of the Order by the Minister for the Civil Service through the executive agency known as the Central Computer and Telecommunications Agency. The Order is consequential upon the transfer of the Central Computer and Telecommunications Agency from the Cabinet Office to the Office of Government Commerce in the Treasury.