- and, in addition, to the extent possible, other special procedures such as:
 - allowing a single goods declaration for all imports or exports in a given period where goods are imported or exported frequently by the same person,
 - use of the authorised persons' commercial records to self-assess their duty and tax liability and, where appropriate, to ensure compliance with other customs requirements,
 - allowing the lodgment of the goods declaration by means of an entry in the records of the authorised person to be supported subsequently by a supplementary goods declaration.

3.33. Standard

When the customs decide that goods declared shall be examined, this examination shall take place as soon as possible after the goods declaration has been registered.

Errors

3.39. Standard

The customs shall not impose substantial penalties for errors where they are satisfied that such errors are inadvertent and that there has been no fraudulent intent or gross negligence. Where they consider it necessary to discourage a repetition of such errors, a penalty may be imposed but shall be no greater than is necessary for this purpose.

Release of goods

3.40. Standard

Goods declared shall be released as soon as the customs have examined them or decided not to examine them, provided that:

- no offence has been found,
- the import or export license or any other documents required have been acquired,
- all permits relating to the procedure concerned have been acquired, and
- any duties and taxes have been paid or that appropriate action has been taken to ensure their collection.

3.41. Standard

If the customs are satisfied that the declarant will subsequently accomplish all the formalities in respect of clearance they shall release the goods, provided that the declarant produces a commercial or official document giving the main particulars of the consignment concerned and acceptable to the customs, and that security, where required, has been furnished to ensure collection of any applicable duties and taxes.

3.42. Standard

When the customs decide that they require laboratory analysis of samples, detailed technical documents or expert advice, they shall release the goods before the results of such examination are known, provided that any security required has been furnished and provided they are satisfied that the goods are not subject to prohibitions or restrictions.

3.43. Standard

When an offence has been detected, the customs shall not wait for the completion of administrative or legal action before they release the goods, provided that the goods are not liable to confiscation or forfeiture or to be needed as evidence at some later stage and that the declarant pays the duties and taxes and furnishes security to ensure collection of any additional duties and taxes and of any penalties which may be imposed.

Abandonment or destruction of goods

3.44. Standard

When goods have not yet been released for home use or when they have been placed under another customs procedure, and provided that no offence has been detected, the person concerned shall not be required to pay the duties and taxes or shall be entitled to repayment thereof:

- when, at his request, such goods are abandoned to the revenue or destroyed or rendered commercially valueless under customs control, as the customs may decide. Any costs involved shall be borne by the person concerned,
- when such goods are destroyed or irrecoverably lost by accident or force majeure, provided that such destruction or loss is duly established to the satisfaction of the customs,
- on shortages due to the nature of the goods when such shortages are duly established to the satisfaction of the customs.

Any waste or scrap remaining after destruction shall be liable, if taken into home use or exported, to the duties and taxes that would be applicable to such waste or scrap imported or exported in that state.

3.45. Transitional standard

When the customs sell goods which have not been declared within the time allowed or could not be released although no offence has been discovered, the proceeds of the sale, after deduction of any duties and taxes and all other charges and expenses incurred, shall be made over to those persons entitled to receive them or, when this is not possible, held at their disposal for a specified period.

When the duties and taxes have been paid, a receipt constituting proof of payment shall be issued to the payer, unless there is other evidence constituting proof of payment.

4.13. Transitional standard

National legislation shall specify a minimum value and/or a minimum amount of duties and taxes below which no duties and taxes will be collected.

4.14. Standard

If the customs find that errors in the goods declaration or in the assessment of the duties and taxes will cause or have caused the collection or recovery of an amount of duties and taxes less than that legally chargeable, they shall correct the errors and collect the amount underpaid. However, if the amount involved is less than the minimum amount specified in national legislation, the customs shall not collect or recover that amount.

B. Deferred payment of duties and taxes

- the goods have not been worked, repaired or used in the country to which they were exported, and are re-imported within a reasonable time.

Use of the goods shall, however, not hinder the repayment if such use was indispensable to discover the defects or other circumstances which caused the re-exportation or re-importation of the goods.

As an alternative to re-exportation or re-importation, the goods may be abandoned to the revenue or destroyed or rendered commercially valueless under customs control, as the customs may decide. Such abandonment or destruction shall not entail any cost to the revenue.

4.20. Transitional standard

Where permission is given by the customs for goods originally declared for a customs procedure with payment of duties and taxes to be placed under another customs procedure, repayment shall be made of any duties and taxes charged in excess of the amount due under the new procedure.

Decisions on claims for repayment shall be reached, and notified in writing to the persons concerned, without undue delay, and repayment of amounts overcharged shall be made as soon as possible after the verification of claims.

4.22. Standard

4.23. Standard

Where time limits are fixed beyond which claims for repayment will not be accepted, such limits shall be of sufficient duration to take account of the differing circumstances pertaining to each type of case in which repayment may be granted.
