▼BREGULATION (EEC) No 234/68 OF THE COUNCIL*of 27 February 1968*on the establishment of a common organisation of the market in live trees and other plants, bulbs, roots and the like, cut flowers and ornamental foliage

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Economic Community, and in particular Articles 42 and 43 thereof;

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission;

Having regard to the Opinion of the European Parliament⁽¹⁾;

Whereas the operation and development of the common market in agricultural products must be accompanied by the establishment of a common agricultural policy to include in particular a common organisation of agricultural markets which may take various forms depending on the product;

Whereas the production of live trees and other plants, bulbs, roots and the like, cut flowers and ornamental foliage (hereinafter where appropriate called 'live plants') is of particular importance to the agricultural economy of certain regions of the Community; whereas for growers in these regions the proceeds of such production represent a major part of their income; whereas therefore efforts should be made, through appropriate measures, to promote the rational marketing of such production and to ensure stable market conditions;

Whereas one of the measures to be taken with a view to the establishment of the common organisation of the market is the application of common quality standards to the products in question; whereas the application of these standards should have the effect of eliminating from the market products of unsatisfactory quality and of promoting commercial relations on the basis of genuine competition, thus contributing to an improvement in the profitability of production;

Whereas the application of these standards makes some form of inspection of quality necessary for the products which are subject to standardisation; whereas therefore provision should be made to ensure such inspection;

Whereas exports of flowering bulbs to third countries are of considerable economic importance to the Community; whereas the continuation and development of such exports may be ensured by stabilising prices in this trade; whereas provision should therefore be made for minimum export prices for the products in question;

Whereas the common organisation of the market in live plants justifies the application of the Common Customs Tariff; whereas, moreover, the regulations on imports from third countries should be coordinated and unified without delay;

Whereas, so as not to leave the Community market without defence against exceptional disturbances which may arise by reason of imports and exports, the Community should be enabled to take all necessary measures without delay;

Whereas the common organisation of the market involves the removal at the internal frontiers of the Community of all obstacles to the free movement of the goods in question;

Whereas the provisions of the Treaty which allow the assessment of aids granted by Member States and the prohibition of those which are incompatible with the common market should be made to apply to live plants;

▼B

Whereas, in order to facilitate implementation of the proposed measures, a procedure should be provided for establishing close co-operation between Member States and the Commission within a Management Committee;

Whereas the common organisation of the market in live plants must take appropriate account, at the same time, of the objectives set out in Articles 39 and 110 of the Treaty;
