Qualifications of analysts

3. A person shall be qualified to be a food analyst or a public analyst if he possesses a Mastership in Chemical Analysis awarded by the Royal Society of Chemistry.

Qualifications of food examiners

4.—(1) A person shall be qualified to be a food examiner if—

- (a) he possesses a qualification listed in Part I of Schedule 2, and
- (b) subject to paragraph (2), he has carried out examination of food over a period or periods amounting in the aggregate to at least three years in one or more of the laboratories set out in Part II of that Schedule.

(2) In calculating the qualification period in sub-paragraph 1(b), no account shall be taken—

Disqualifications

5. A food analyst or examiner, who is engaged directly or indirectly in a food business, shall not analyse or examine any sample procured under Article 29 of the Order which he knows was taken from that business.

6.—(1) An authorised officer who has procured a sample under Article 29 of the Order and who considers that it should be analysed shall (subject to paragraph (4)) forthwith divide the sample into three parts.

(2) If the sample consists of sealed containers and opening them would, in the opinion of the authorised officer, impede a proper analysis, the authorised officer shall divide the sample into parts by putting the containers into three lots, and each lot shall be treated as being a part.

(3) The authorised officer shall—

- (a) if necessary place each part in a suitable container and seal each container;
- (b) mark each part or container;
- (c) as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so, give one to the owner and give him notice that the sample will be analysed;

- (e) retain one for future submission under regulation 7.

(4) If the authorised officer is of the opinion that division of the sample into parts is either not reasonably practicable or likely to impede a proper analysis, he shall as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so give to the owner notice that it will be analysed and shall submit it for analysis.

Submission of retained sample

7. An authorised officer who has retained part of the sample shall submit it to the Government Chemist (or such other food analyst as the Government Chemist may direct) for analysis if—

- (a) he and the owner so agree (which agreement may include who is to pay the analysis fees), or
- (b) a court so orders.

Procedure where a sample is to be examined

8. An authorised officer who has procured a sample under Article 29 of the Order and who considers that it should be examined shall—

- (a) if necessary place the sample in a suitable container and seal the container;
- (b) mark the sample or container;
- (c) as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so, give notice to the owner that the sample will be examined; and

9.—(1) Where a sample procured under Article 29 of the Order has been analysed or examined, the owner shall be entitled on request to be supplied with a copy of the certificate of analysis or examination by the district council.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations specify the qualifications necessary to be a public analyst, food analyst or food examiner for the purposes of Articles 27(2) and 30(9) of the Food Safety (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 ('the Order'). They prohibit specified persons from carrying out analyses or examinations.

They also specify the procedures to be followed when a sample has been procured by an authorised officer of a district council under Article 29 of the Order for analysis or examination, and exclude from these procedures samples taken under Regulations which have their own procedures.

They prescribe the form of certificate to be used by analysts and examiners in making their reports.

The Regulations also revoke the Public Analysts Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1960.

The enabling provisions under which these Regulations are made, together with the majority of the other provisions of the Order, are brought into operation on 21st May 1991 by virtue of the Food Safety (1991 Order) (Commencement) Order (Northern Ireland) 1991 (S.R. 1991 No. 175 (C. 11)).

A Code of Practice issued under Article 39(1) of the Order on Sampling for Analysis or Examination is published by Her Majesty's Stationery Office, copies may be obtained from Government bookshops.
