And Whereas by Section 7 of the Act, it is enacted that the expression "elementary education" means an education, both literary and moral, based upon instruction in the reading and writing of the English language and in Arithmetic, provided for pupils who are in general of an age below fourteen years; and that the expression "public elementary school" means a school or department of a school in respect of which grants are paid out of moneys provided by Parliament, and in which elementary education is the principal part of the education provided:
