(6) The authority must send to the claimant a written notice informing that person of its decision on the review and the reasons for that decision.

(7) A notice under paragraph (6) must contain particulars of the claimant's right to appeal a decision on review under regulation 24.

Appeal to the sheriff

24.—(1) A claimant dissatisfied with the decision of the relevant authority on a review under regulation 23 may appeal to the sheriff.

(2) An appeal must be brought within 21 days of the day on which the claimant received written notice of the authority's decision on review.

(3) The sheriff may give permission for an appeal to be brought after the end of that period, but only if the sheriff is satisfied—

- (a) if permission is sought before the end of that period, that there is a good reason for the claimant being unable to bring the appeal in time; or
- (b) if permission is sought after that time, that there was a good reason for the claimant's failure to bring the appeal in time and for any delay in applying for permission.

(4) On appeal under this regulation, the sheriff may make such order confirming, quashing or varying the decision as the sheriff thinks fit.

Regulation 3

Meaning of “event zone”

1. In these Regulations, “event zone” means the Hampden Park zone, being the zone comprised of the non-shaded area shown on the deposited map bounded externally by a dotted green line including the pavement on each side of any road within the event zone.

2. The event zone includes the airspace above the land in that area.

3. All parts of a railway station (whether on, above or under the ground) and whether in or outside of an event zone are to be treated as being within the event zone if any part of the station is on or above the ground in the event zone.

4. In this Schedule, “deposited map” means, in relation to the event zone, the map bearing the name “Hampden Park zone”, the signature of a deputy director of the Regeneration and Commonwealth Games Division of the Scottish Government, the title of these Regulations and date September 2011, of which prints are deposited and available on request for inspection during normal office opening hours at the offices of—

- (a) the Scottish Ministers at Victoria Quay, Edinburgh;
- (b) Glasgow City Council at City Chambers, Glasgow.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations control advertising and trading activity in a designated area in Glasgow in respect of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games events at Hampden Park (“the event zone”) during a period when those events take place (an “event period”). The event zone is defined in Schedule 1 by reference to a map that is available for inspection at the offices of the Scottish Government and Glasgow City Council. The event period is defined in regulation 3.

Regulation 4 makes clear that nothing in the Regulations authorises a person to do anything that is prohibited by or under any enactment or rule of law or affects any requirement under an enactment or rule of law that a person hold a “licence”.

Regulation 6 prohibits a person from engaging in advertising activity in the event zone during the relevant event period (the “advertising prohibition”).

Regulation 5 defines “advertising activity” to mean displaying an advertisement or distributing or providing promotional material. “Advertisement”, “promotional material” and “displaying an advertisement” are defined in the same regulation. Specific provision is made in regulation 5(3) for advertisements displayed on hand held telephones and other personal interactive communication devices.

A person is to be treated as contravening the advertising prohibition if the person undertakes advertising activity in the event zone during the event period or arranges for advertising activity to take place in the event zone during the event period (see regulation 6(2)(a) and (b)). Under regulation 6(2)(c) a person is to be treated as engaging in advertising activity where advertising activity:

- relates to a good, service, business or other concern in which the person has an interest or for which the person is responsible, or
- takes place on land, premises or other property that the person owns or occupies or of which the person has responsibility for management.

Regulation 6(3) to (5) specifies when a person is to be treated as satisfying these criteria.

Under section 21(2) of the London Olympic Games and Paralympic Games Act 2006 (the “2006 Act”), a person charged with an offence of contravening the advertising prohibition has a defence if the person proves that the contravention occurred without his or her knowledge or despite his or her taking all reasonable steps to prevent it from occurring or (where he or she became aware of it after its commencement) from continuing.

In addition, regulations 7 to 10 specify exceptions to the advertising prohibition. The exception in regulation 7 is for activity intended to demonstrate support for or opposition to the views or actions of a person or body of persons, publicise a belief, cause or campaign, or mark or commemorate an event. The exception does not apply to advertising activity that promotes or advertises a good, service, or person or body (excluding a not-for-profit body as defined in regulation 5 that provides a good or service).

The exception in regulation 8 is for an individual who engages in advertising activity only by wearing advertising attire, displaying an advertisement on his or her body, or carrying or holding personal property on which an advertisement is displayed. “Advertising attire” is defined in regulation 5 to mean a costume that is an advertisement or clothing on which an advertisement is displayed. For the exception to apply, the person must not know or have reasonable cause to believe that he or she is participating in an ambush marketing campaign (also defined in regulation 5). The application of this exception to a person does not affect the application of the advertising prohibition to any other person (whether in respect of the same advertising activity or otherwise).

The exception in regulation 9 is modelled on provisions of the Town and Country Planning (Control of Advertisements) (Scotland) Regulations 1984 (“the Town and Country Planning Regulations”). Under regulation 9(1)(a) the advertising prohibition does not apply to the display of an advertisement which is exempt from the requirement for deemed or express consent under Part 2 or 3 of the Town and Country Planning Regulations (i.e. the display of an advertisement of a description set out in column (1) of Schedule 4 to those Regulations, provided that the relevant conditions and limitations set out in that Schedule are complied with). Under regulation 9(1)(b) the advertising prohibition does not apply to the display of an advertisement for which “deemed consent” is granted by regulation 6(1) of those Regulations (i.e. any Class of advertisement specified in Part 1 of Schedule 4 to those Regulations, subject to the conditions and limitations referred to in regulation 6(1) of those Regulations). But the exception in regulation 9 does not apply to the display of an advertisement of a description set out in regulation 9(2) (which specifies certain advertisements by reference to the Classes of advertisement in Schedules 1 and 3 to the Town and Country Planning Regulations).

Regulation 10 specifies other exceptions to the advertising prohibition.

In addition to the defence set out in section 21 of the 2006 Act and the exceptions specified in regulations 7 to 10, regulation 11 provides that the advertising prohibition does not apply to advertising activity undertaken or controlled by:

- the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games Limited (“LOCOG”), or
- a person authorised by LOCOG.

LOCOG’s right to engage in advertising activity under regulation 11 and any authorisation granted by it are subject to the conditions specified in regulation 11(4), including that the advertiser hold any licence (as defined in regulation 11(5)) which, in addition to authorisation by or under regulation 11, is required before a person may engage in advertising activity (whether in a particular place or generally). A person who applies for an authorisation and is dissatisfied with LOCOG’s decision may request the Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA) to review its decision (see regulation 17).

Regulation 13 prohibits a person from engaging in trading activity in the event zone during the event period (the “trading prohibition”).

Regulation 12 defines trading activity as carrying out one or more of the activities specified in that regulation in an open public place. “Open public place” is defined in that regulation to mean a road or another place to which the public have access and which is not in a building (other than one designed or generally used for the parking of cars). The matters specified in regulation 12(2) are to be disregarded when determining whether activity amounts to trading activity.

A person is to be treated as contravening the trading prohibition if the person undertakes trading activity or arranges for trading activity to take place in the event zone during an event period (see regulation 13(1) and (2)(a)). Under regulation 13(2)(b) a person (a “business or land owner”) is also to be treated as engaging in trading activity where that activity:

- is undertaken by a business or other concern in which the person has an interest or for which the person is responsible, or
- takes place on land that the person owns or occupies or of which the person has responsibility for management.

Regulation 13(4) and (5) specifies people who are to be treated as satisfying these criteria. But regulation 13(3) provides that a business or land owner is not to be treated as engaging in trading activity trading if he or she proves that the trading activity took place without his or her knowledge or that he or she took all reasonable steps to prevent the trading activity taking place or, where it has taken place, to prevent it continuing or recurring.

Regulation 14 specifies exceptions to the trading prohibition.

In addition, regulation 15 provides that the trading prohibition does not apply to trading activity undertaken in accordance with an authorisation granted by the ODA or a person to whom the function of granting authorisations is delegated by the ODA. The ODA (or its delegate, as the case may be) may impose terms and conditions on any authorisation under section 25(7) of the 2006

Act. Under regulation 15(4) an authorisation is subject to the condition that any person who engages in trading activity in reliance on the authorisation hold any licence (as defined in regulation 15(5)) which, in addition to authorisation under regulation 15, is required before the person may engage in street trading (whether in a particular place or generally). A person who applies for an authorisation and is dissatisfied with the ODA's (or its delegate's) decision may request ODA (or its delegate) to review its decision (see regulation 17).

Part 5 provides for compensation for a person whose property is damaged in the course of the exercise or purported exercise of an enforcement power under section 22 or 28 of the 2006 Act. Under regulation 19(2) a person who, in the reasonable belief of the ODA (or as the case may be the police authority), is responsible for a contravention of the Regulations is not entitled to compensation. The amount of compensation payable is specified in regulation 19(3). Regulations 20 to 24 set out the procedure by which compensation may be obtained.
