EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Health Protection (Coronavirus) (International Travel) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (“the International Travel Regulations”) and the Health Protection (Coronavirus, Public Health Information for Passengers Travelling to Scotland) Regulations 2020 (“the Information Regulations”).

Regulation 2(2) amends regulation 9(6) of the International Travel Regulations to provide that a person has a defence to the charge that they have committed an offence under regulation 6(2) of the International Travel Regulations if they can show that they were outside of the place they are staying in accordance with that regulation on compassionate grounds, for reasons related to the end of a person’s life.

Regulation 2(3) removes the Canary Islands from, and adds Botswana and Saudi Arabia to, the list of exempt countries and territories in schedule A1 to the International Travel Regulations. As of 04.00 a.m. on Saturday 12 December 2020, travellers arriving in Scotland having departed from or transited through the Canary Islands will be subject to the movement restriction in regulation 6 of the International Travel Regulations, and travellers arriving in Scotland from Botswana or Saudi Arabia will no longer be subject to the movement restriction in regulation 6 of the International Travel Regulations.

Regulation 2(4) adds a further category of elite sportsperson to the exemption in paragraph 38A of schedule 2 of the International Travel Regulations. This allows new signings to professional sports clubs to be exempt from the requirement to stay in specified premises when they are travelling to, from or between, or participating in, elite sports events or training for such events.

Regulation 3(4) reduces from 14 days to 10 days the period within which a person must remain in specified premises where they have arrived in Scotland having departed from or transited through a non-exempt country or territory. Regulation 4 makes consequential amendments to the Information Regulations. The remaining provisions in regulation 3 change other references to 14 days in the International Travel Regulations to 10 days.

Regulation 5 makes transitional provision, so that the reduction in the quarantine period from 14 days to 10 days applies to persons who are subject to the movement restriction immediately before regulation 3 comes into force, and whose period of quarantine ends after regulation 3(4) comes into force. This makes clear that the reduction from 14 days to 10 days applies to all those who are quarantining at the time the change takes effect as well as to those who arrive in Scotland after the change takes effect. If a person is beyond the 10th day of their quarantine period at the point the change takes effect, they may immediately cease quarantining. Regulation 5 also provides that the amendments to the Information Regulations made by regulation 4 do not apply to bookings made, pre-departure notifications given, check-ins taking place or journeys departing before those amendments come into force.
