

Standard Life Assurance Company Act 1991

1991 CHAPTER iii

9 No policy deemed to be effected until payment of premium

No person effecting any policy with the Company shall, unless otherwise expressly agreed in writing between the Company and such person, be considered as assured by the Company until the single or first premium or consideration due under such policy has been paid, notwithstanding that the policy may have been executed by the Company.