

CHAPTER lxxv.

An Act for incorporating and conferring powers on the Henley-on-Thames Gas Company. A.D. 1888.
[5th July 1888.]

WHEREAS certain persons under a deed of settlement dated the 13th day of June 1834 (hereinafter referred to as "the deed of settlement") formed themselves into a Gas Company under the name of "the Henley Gas Light and Coke Company" for the purpose of supplying the town of Henley-on-Thames in the county of Oxford with inflammable air or gas:

And whereas the Company so formed was on the eleventh day of January one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight duly registered under the Joint Stock Companies Acts 1856 and 1857 and is hereinafter referred to as "the Limited Company":

And whereas the present share capital of the Limited Company consists of seven thousand five hundred pounds divided into seven hundred and fifty shares of ten pounds each which have been subscribed for and allotted and have all been paid up:

And whereas the Limited Company have no mortgage debt:

And whereas the Limited Company have from time to time expended various sums of money upon the improvement and extension of their works mains and other appliances for the manufacture storage and distribution of gas and upon other matters relating to the lighting of the said town of Henley-on-Thames with gas which sums have not been allocated to capital:

And whereas the Limited Company have caused a structural valuation to be made of their works of manufacture storage and distribution as they now exist which valuation together with working capital amounts to the aggregate sum of thirteen thousand six hundred pounds or thereabouts:

And whereas it is reasonable that stock representing the amount of the capital moneys and other sums so expended as aforesaid should be created and should be distributed rateably among the present shareholders of the Limited Company in the manner and under the conditions in this Act prescribed and set forth:

A.D. 1888.

And whereas the Limited Company have acquired the piece of land described in the schedule to this Act and erected gasworks thereon and have from time to time improved and enlarged the same and are now supplying gas within and about the town of Henley-on-Thames aforesaid:

And whereas the demand for gas in the district supplied by the Limited Company has increased and is increasing and other townships and places in the neighbourhood thereof are wholly without a supply of gas and it is expedient that the works of the Limited Company should be increased and improved and their mains and limits of supply extended and that additional capital should be provided for such improvement and extension:

And whereas it is expedient that the Limited Company should be dissolved and re-incorporated with further powers:

And whereas the objects aforesaid cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows (that is to say):—
