Modifications etc. (not altering text)

- C1 Act restricted by Merchant Shipping Act 1979 (c. 39, SIF 111), ss. 17-19, 49, 51(2), Sch. 4 Pt. I art. 7, Pt. II para. 6(2)
- C2 Act modified by Consumer Protection Act 1987 (c. 43, SIF 109:1), ss. 6, 41(2), 47(1)(2)

1 Rights of relatives of a deceased person.

- (1) Where a person dies in consequence of personal injuries sustained by him as a result of an act or omission of another person, being an act or omission giving rise to liability to pay damages to the injured person or his executor, then, subject to the following provisions of this Act, the person liable to pay those damages (in this section referred to as “the responsible person”) shall also be liable to pay damages in accordance with this section to any relative of the deceased, being a relative within the meaning of Schedule 1 to this Act.
- (2) No liability shall arise under this section if the liability to the deceased or his executor in respect of the act or omission has been excluded or discharged (whether by antecedent agreement or otherwise) by the deceased before his death, or is excluded by virtue of any enactment.
- (3) The damages which the responsible person shall be liable to pay to a relative of a deceased under this section shall (subject to the provisions of this Act) be such as will compensate the relative for any loss of support suffered by him since the date of the deceased’s death or likely to be suffered by him as a result of the act or omission in Status: Point in time view as at 16/06/1997.

Changes to legislation: Damages (Scotland) Act 1976 (repealed) is up to date with all changes known to be in force on or before 25 May 2024. question, together with any reasonable expense incurred by him in connection with the deceased's funeral.

- (4) If the relative is a member of the deceased's immediate family (within the meaning of section 10(2) of this Act) there shall be awarded, without prejudice to any claim under subsection (3) above, such sum of damages, if any, as the court thinks just by way of compensation for ^{F1}all or any of the following—
- (a) distress and anxiety endured by the relative in contemplation of the suffering of the deceased before his death;
 - (b) grief and sorrow of the relative caused by the deceased's death;
 - (c) the loss of such non-patrimonial benefit as the relative might have been expected to derive from the deceased's society and guidance if the deceased had not died, and the court in making an award under this subsection shall not be required to ascribe specifically any part of the award to any of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) above.]

- (5) ^{F2}Subject to subsection (5A) below,] in assessing for the purposes of this section the amount of any loss of support suffered by a relative of a deceased no account shall be taken of—
- (a) any patrimonial gain or advantage which has accrued or will or may accrue to the relative from the deceased or from any other person by way of succession or settlement;
 - (b) any insurance money, benefit, pension or gratuity which has been, or will be or may be, paid as a result of the deceased's death;

and in this subsection—

“benefit” means benefit under the ^{M1}Social Security Act 1975 or the ^{M2}Social Security (Northern Ireland) Act 1975, and any payment by a friendly society or trade union for the relief or maintenance of a member's dependants;

“insurance money” includes a return of premiums; and

“pension” includes a return of contributions and any payment of a lump sum in respect of a person's employment.

- ^{F3}(5A) Where a deceased has been awarded a provisional award of damages under section 12(2) of the Administration of Justice Act 1982, the making of that award does not prevent liability from arising under this section but in assessing for the purposes of this section the amount of any loss of support suffered by a relative of the deceased the court shall take into account such part of the provisional award relating to future patrimonial loss as was intended to compensate the deceased for a period beyond the date on which he died.]

- (6) In order to establish loss of support for the purposes of this section it shall not be essential for a claimant to show that the deceased was, or might have become, subject to a duty in law to provide or contribute to the support of the claimant; but if any such fact is established it may be taken into account in determining whether, and if so to what extent, the deceased, if he had not died, would have been likely to provide or contribute to such support.
- (7) Except as provided in this section ^{F4}or in Part II of the Administration of Justice Act 1982] ^{F5}or under section 1 of the International Transport Conventions Act 1983] no person shall be entitled by reason of relationship to damages (including damages by way of solatium) in respect of the death of another person.

6 Limitation of total amount of liability.

- (1) Where in any action to which [^{F13}this section] applies, so far as directed against any defender, it is shown that by antecedent agreement, compromise or otherwise, the liability arising in relation to that defender from the personal injuries in question had, before the deceased's death, been limited to damages of a specified or ascertainable amount, or where that liability is so limited by virtue of any enactment, nothing in this Act shall make the defender liable to pay damages exceeding that amount; and accordingly where in such an action there are two or more pursuers any damages to which they would respectively be entitled under this Act apart from the said limitation shall, if necessary, be reduced pro rata.
- (2) Where two or more such actions are conjoined, the conjoined actions shall be treated for the purposes of this section as if they were a single action.
- [^{F14}(3) This section applies to any action in which, following the death of any person from personal injuries, damages are claimed—
 - (a) by the executor of the deceased, in respect of the injuries from which the deceased died;
 - (b) in respect of the death of the deceased, by any relative of his [^{F15}or, if the relative has died, by the relative's executor].]

as including a reference to a relative of the deceased person within the meaning of this Act.

8 Abolition of right of assythment.

After the commencement of this Act no person shall in any circumstances have a right to assythment, and accordingly any action claiming that remedy shall (to the extent that it does so) be incompetent.

9 Damages due to injured person for patrimonial loss caused by personal injuries whereby expectation of life is diminished.

- (1) This section applies to any action for damages in respect of personal injuries sustained by the pursuer where his expected date of death is earlier than it would have been if he had not sustained the injuries.
- (2) In assessing, in any action to which this section applies, the amount of any patrimonial loss in respect of the period after the date of decree—
 - (a) it shall be assumed that the pursuer will live until the date when he would have been expected to die if he had not sustained the injuries (hereinafter referred to as the “notional date of death”);
 - (b) the court may have regard to any amount, whether or not it is an amount related to earnings by the pursuer’s own labour or other gainful activity, which in its opinion the pursuer, if he had not sustained the injuries in question, would have received in the period up to his notional date of death by way of benefits in money or money’s worth, being benefits derived from sources other than the pursuer’s own estate;
 - (c) the court shall have regard to any diminution of any such amount as aforesaid by virtue of expenses which in the opinion of the court the pursuer, if he had not sustained the injuries in question, would reasonably have incurred in the said period by way of living expenses.

[^{F16}9A Solatium for loss of expectation of life.

- (1) In assessing, in an action for damages in respect of personal injuries, the amount of damages by way of solatium, the court shall, if—
 - (a) the injured person’s expectation of life has been reduced by the injuries; and
 - (b) the injured person is, was at any time or is likely to become, aware of that reduction, have regard to the extent that, in consequence of that awareness, he has suffered or is likely to suffer.
- (2) Subject to subsection (1) above, no damages by way of solatium shall be recoverable in respect of loss of expectation of life.
- (3) The court in making an award of damages by way of solatium shall not be required to ascribe specifically any part of the award to loss of expectation of life.]
