2 Definition of accessible personal information.

- (1) The following provisions apply for the interpretation of this Act.
- (2) "Personal information" means information which relates to a living individual who can be identified from that information (or from that and other information in the possession of the authority keeping the record) including any expression of opinion about the individual but not any indication of the intentions of the authority with respect to that individual.
- (3) Subject to subsection (4) below, information is "accessible personal information" for the purposes of this Act if it is held in a record kept by an authority specified in the Table in Schedule 1 to this Act or, as respects Scotland, Schedule 2 to this Act and is information of a description specified in that Table in relation to that authority; and any obligation to give access to information is an obligation to give access to the individual who is the subject of it or is, under that Schedule, to be treated as such.
- (4) As respects any regulations under section 3, information is not accessible personal information if recorded before the commencement date of the regulations or the first commencement date of regulations imposing a corresponding obligation except to the extent that access to it is required to make intelligible information recorded on or after that date.

3 Access regulations.

- (1) The Secretary of State may by regulation make such provision as he considers appropriate for securing access by individuals to accessible personal information of which they are (or are treated as) the subjects and the rectification or erasure of inaccurate records containing such information.
- (2) Regulations under this section may, in particular, for those purposes—
- (a) impose obligations on the authorities keeping records containing such information to give access to the information in the prescribed manner;
 - (b) impose obligations on the authorities keeping records containing such information to rectify or make erasures in records containing inaccurate information;

Status: Point in time view as at 01/02/1991.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Access to Personal Files Act 1987 (repealed 1.3.2000). (See end of Document for details)

- (c) provide for exemptions from or impose restrictions on access to information or the rectification or erasure of inaccurate records;
 - (d) regulate the procedure for obtaining access to information or the rectification or erasure of inaccurate records;
 - (e) provide for decisions taken by authorities to be reconsidered or reviewed;
 - (f) authorise authorities to charge fees not exceeding the prescribed maximum; and
 - (g) make incidental and supplementary provision including provision defining the corresponding obligation for the purposes of section 2(4).
- (3) Regulations under this section may make different provision for different descriptions of information, different authorities or other different circumstances.
- (4) The Secretary of State shall, before making regulations under this section, consult such authorities or bodies representing authorities as he thinks appropriate .
- (5) The power to make regulations under this section is exercisable by statutory instrument but no regulations under this section shall be made unless a draft of the regulations has been laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.
- (6) In this section “prescribed” means prescribed in regulations under it.

4 Financial provisions.

There shall be paid out of money provided by Parliament any increase attributable to this Act in the sums payable out of moneys so provided under any other enactment.

5 Short title and extent.

- (1) This Act may be cited as the Access to Personal Files Act 1987.
- (2) This Act does not extend to Northern Ireland.

Status: Point in time view as at 01/02/1991.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Access to Personal Files Act 1987 (repealed 1.3.2000). (See end of Document for details)
