

Atomic Weapons Establishment Act 1991

1991 CHAPTER 46

1 Arrangements for the carrying on of certain activities.

- (1) This Act applies in relation to such activities, carried on at such premises, as may be designated by the Secretary of State by order; and in this Act, in relation to any designated premises—

“the qualified employees” means the persons who are employed in the civil service of the Crown in or in connection with the undertaking on such day as the Secretary of State appoints by order;

“the undertaking” means the carrying on by the Secretary of State of designated activities at those premises.

- (2) The activities that may be designated under subsection (1) above are any activities connected with the development, production or maintenance of nuclear devices or with research into such devices or their effects; and the premises that may be so designated are those which, when this Act comes into force, form part of the undertaking carried on by the Secretary of State and known as the Atomic Weapons Establishment.

- (3) This Act shall apply if, as regards any designated premises, the Secretary of State makes arrangements—

(a) for a company to carry on designated activities at the premises under contract with him; and

(b) for that or another company—

(i) to become the employer of such of the qualified employees as are employees to whom the arrangements apply; and

(ii) to acquire from him rights in or over the premises or any part of them and any property used for the purposes of the undertaking, with a view to their services and that property being made available for carrying on the designated activities at those premises;

and any reference in this subsection to a company includes a reference to a company formed by the Secretary of State.

- (4) In this Act—

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Atomic Weapons Establishment Act 1991. (See end of Document for details)

[^{F1}“company” means a company as defined in section 1(1) of the Companies Act 2006 and “formed”, in relation to a company, includes the alteration of the company’s articles so as to add, remove or alter a statement of the company’s objects;]

“contractor” means a company which carries on designated activities at designated premises under contract with the Secretary of State or, by making the services of employees or property available, enables such activities to be carried on at such premises, whether by a company or by the Secretary of State;

“designated”, with reference to any activities or premises, means designated by an order under subsection (1) above.

- (5) The power to make an order under subsection (1) above shall be exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

2 Provisions applying to the transfer of certain employees.

- (1) [^{F2}The Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations 2006] shall apply to the transfer of the undertaking or any part of it whether or not, apart from this provision, the undertaking would be treated as [^{F3}an undertaking to whose transfer those Regulations apply].
- (2) For the purposes of those Regulations, the services of the qualified employees together with the rights in or over the premises and property used for the purposes of the undertaking shall be treated as [^{F4}a part of that undertaking to whose transfer those Regulations apply] whether or not the company which is to become their employer also carries on designated activities.
- (3) Where in pursuance of the arrangements referred to in section 1(3) above a company is to become the employer of any person, none of the agreed redundancy procedures applicable to persons employed in the civil service of the Crown shall apply to him.
- (4) Where in pursuance of the arrangements referred to in section 1(3) above—
- (a) a person ceases to be employed in the civil service of the Crown on becoming employed by a company; and
 - (b) he would not have so ceased if it were not for those arrangements,
- he shall not, on so ceasing, be treated for the purposes of any scheme under section 1 of the ^{M1}Superannuation Act 1972, or any pension scheme maintained by the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority, as having retired on redundancy.
