Commentary on Sections

Chapter 3: Northern Ireland

Section 30: Variation and discharge

100. This section makes broadly analogous provision in relation to Northern Ireland for the discharge of confiscation orders where the defendant has died to that contained in section 8 in respect of England and Wales. Whereas, under section 8, an application to the Crown Court for the discharge of a confiscation order is made by the designated officer for a magistrates' court, under this section such application will be made by the prosecutor.
